EQUIPMENT SHIPPED FOR WHITE WAY IN CITY OF CAMERON

PART OF MATERIAL ON HAND
AND LIGHT POLES SHIPPED
NOVEMBER 10.

The City of Cameron is in receipt of an invoice covering equipment for the White Way to be installed here within a short time.

A shipment of cable reached Cameron Wednesday and the poles for the street lights were shipped from Canton, Ohio, on November 10 and are expected to reach Cameron within the next few days.

Ten of these lights are being shipped to the City and four are being shipped to the county for installation at the court house. In addition to these the Cameron Water, Power & Light Company is to install two big lights on their property at the plant. This will give the city sixteen large lights for the business district as a start toward a real and extensive system of lighting for the city.

By the arrangement eight of the lights will be distributed about the court house square to illumine the four intersecting streets and the county capitol.

These lights will be installed at intersections and will act as traffic guides as well as for lighting. Signs "drive to the right" will appear on all the lamps. These lamps are duplicates of the large light installed by the Southwestern General Electric Co. at the corner of the First National Bank building.

SHELTER FOR THE NIGHT

He came to this world as a little child,
Who needed a mother's care,
While He took of a mother's sacrifice,
He needed a mother's prayer;
No mansion here offered home so fair
As her tender love's embrace,
Nor had costly bed for His tiny head,
Like those arms, fit resting-place.
And so must He ever enter in,
The Baby of Bethlehem,
Who had no home here,
The Lord of a boundless realm;
And the King of Kings seeks no better things
Than the "child of thy love's" sure part,
Who cradled in Bethlehem His throne-room made,
For His kingdom is thy heart.

DEVELOPMENT IN MILAM COUNTY FIELDS RENEWED

TEN WELL CONTRACT ON NIE-
HAUS ACREAGE IN MI-NERVA.

The Milam county fields are again bristling with activity after the heavy rain fall of the past week. Machinery is moving in for another deep test well and several cars of oil field supplies are here waiting to be unloaded. Completions in the Minerva shallow field continue to be recorded and all for better than the average wells of the field. The Lee Oil Company is rushing the work of drilling ten wells on the Neihaus 25 acres adjoining the original Lee Company lease on the same farm. This concern now has two large National rigs drilling or preparing to drill. The Erie Investment Company number 4 Ben McClellan is reported as a finished well, while the Glass Brothers number 6 Moore is said to be a 20 barrel producer from the usual depths this well is on the opposite side of Cat Tail creek from the Baggett and House number 6 Henry, which came in some time ago flowing around 75 barrels natural.

Hefley, McIntosh and Thomas, are drilling on their number 5 McClellan which is expected will be completed this week.

Coyle and Concord operating the old Newell and Clifton Brothers prospectors are drilling on their number 6 well on the Neihaus tract and is reported to be on top of the pay sand, ready to be drilled in.

In the wildcat district, all eyes are watching the Guiberson number one Posey Well which is reported to be ready to drill out the cement plug around 3298 feet. The engine has to be reset after the plug is drilled out and all cable tool machinery will be rigged up to drill the well to completion. It is expected that about 45 days will be required to complete this well and the fate of gusher pay sands in Milam County, that is in this part of the county rests in the outcome of this well. Scouts and others interested in the oil future of this county are on the ground and will watch every move of the drill towards the pay sands that are expected will be uncovered. The Milano Uplift Oil Syndicate number one Mon Ashley are moving on machinery, rigging up, getting ready to spud in.

White and Cantrell number one Baker, west of Cameron is rigging up machinery Hewett et al of Houston, drilling on the Henderson tract of 100 acres in the old Tracy field, are reported to have spudded in and drilling. This well is scheduled for the 2000 foot level and the drillers will test out all of the pay streaks that are encountered in the well. It is believed by oil men here that a good pay exists around the 1200 to 1300 foot stratum. A well drilled several years ago on the Gilliland farm by local people is said to have found a 50 barrel well at the 1200 foot level and the hole was lost by cave.

Lease trading has been very active in the vicinity of the Posey well this week and several large acreage deals are reported. The prairie Oil and Gas Company one of the large Standard subsidiaries is reported to have purchased acreage here, also the Sun Company. Acreage is selling around this well at prices ranging from $15 to $50 per acre, the smaller price is being paid for leases 3 and one half to four miles away while the leases that are close in are bringing up to the top price.

Milam County is expected will come into its own in a very few weeks as a producer of oil in large quantities, at any rate the county is getting a lot of attention from the big fellows and drilling is as active here as in other places. The Milam County shallow field is attracting scores of shallow well operators from all parts of the United States.

In Session Four Days Return 12 Bills Indictment

CHARGE NIGHT GAMBLING FESTIVALS BETWEEN WHITES AND BLACKS.

Charging night suppers and festivals where both whites and blacks participate for the purpose of gambling with an outgrowth of other offenses, the grand jury in the district court made its final report and has been asked to be discharged.

The jury returned twelve indictments, five of the grade of felony and seven of the grade of misdemeanor.

Regarding the findings with respect to gambling the report goes on to say that "we find that there seems to be a general practice of having night suppers or festivals at various places in the county where both white and black races of each sex congregate, and which gatherings nearly always result in a carousal of law violations, not only of gambling but oftentimes, graver offenses.

This statement recalls the recent raid by the sheriff's department near the city when more than 75 were placed under arrest charged with gambling.

The report in full follows:

THE STATE OF TEXAS

County of Milam.

In the District Court of Milam County, Texas November Term A. D. 1922.

To the Honorable Judge of said Court:

The Grand Jury for the above mentioned term of Court, duly selected, empaneled and sworn, beg to report that we have been in session for four bills of indictment five of which are of the grade of felony and seven of the grade of misdemeanor.

In view of the fact that there was a special Grand Jury empaneled at the preceding term of this Court, our labors have in a measure been somewhat shortened than would ordinarily occur at a regular convention of the Grand Jury.

We desire to call attention to the numerous violations of the gaming laws throughout the County, and would earnestly enlist the help of all good citizens in assisting our peace officers in breaking up this pernicious practice. The evil of gaming, itself, is not the only thing involved, but we find that there seems to be a general practice of having night suppers or festivals at various places in the County where both white and black races of each sex congregate, and which gatherings nearly always result in a carousal of law violations, not only of gaming but oftentimes, graver offenses.

We desire to thank the sheriff's department, the County Attorney and the various bailiffs who have assisted us in our deliberations, and now having finished our labors, we ask that we be finally discharged.

Respectfully submitted,

Y. A. GJEDDE,

Foreman.

ANTI TICK FORCES PLANNING PROTEST BEFORE THE COURT

PETITION ASKING COURT TO DISCONTINUE WILL BE PRESENTED.

The tick controversy in the county had its flare back this week when a petition signed by a large number of cattle owners over the county was being prepared for presentation to the Commissioners Court.

O. D. Baker of Gause, representative to the Legislature from Milam and Lee and Burleson counties has the petition and will represent the signers, according to County Judge Jeff T. Kemp who had arranged to give hearing at the regular session of the court last Monday but owing to weather conditions the meeting was not held.

Judge Kemp left Tuesday for Marshall to attend the Methodist conference as a delegate from the Cameron Methodist church and will return the latter part of this week. It is expected a hearing on the petition will be had at an early date.

At the same time supporters of the court among stockmen of the county in continuing the work were preparing to combat the petition to suspend. The court voted recently to discontinue the work but following a protest from more than a hundred livestock men agreed to continue if proper co-operation could be had among the people. This action caused dissatisfaction among those opposing continuation and the petition is the outgrowth.

It is not believed here that the court will rescind its action and it is believed the interest of the pro-tick group will prevail with the court.

With proper co-operation it is believed that the work can be accomplished this year.

NEWBERRY QUILTS SENATE OF U. S.

NOTORIOUS SLUSHFUNDER RE- BUKED BY PEOPLE THROWS UP FIGHT.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 19.—Senator Truman H. Newberry, Republican United States Senator from Michigan, has resigned.

Faced with the prospect of undergoing further embarrassment in the forthcoming session of Congress because of the dispute over his seat, arising out of the large amount of money spent in his campaign against Henry Ford, Senator Newberry, on the advice of his friends, has stepped out.

Late last week the Senator announced that his fate was in the hands of his friends and that he would abide by their verdict.

In a letter dated Nov. 18, Senator Newberry tendered his resignation to Gov. Alexander J. Groesbeck.

Senator Newberry refused to make any statement supplementary to his letter to Governor Groesbeck. He refused to see newspaper men and would not come to the telephone when called by the United News.

J. O. Murfin widely known Michigan attorney, who successfully defended Senator Newberry at his trial for alleged corruption of the electorate at Grand Rapids, also refused to comment on the resignation beyond confirming the fact that it had been tendered to Governor Groesbeck.

Following the recent defeat of Senator Townsend, which is supposed to have been directly responsible for Newberry's resignation Sunday, Murfin declared he was "very sick" and that "the country is going to hell."

That Governor Groesbeck will appoint Senator Townsend to Newberry's vacant seat was the belief expressed by politicians as the news of Newberry's resignation spread through the State. They declared that Townsend's defeat could be blamed entirely to the attack made on him for his vote to seat Newberry in the Senate, and his subsequent support of his colleague, and that his appointment would be fitting.

Townsend, it was pointed out, will be the most outstanding Republican leader in the State when the Governor makes his appointment, and while Governor Groesbeck has given no indication of what he may be expected to do, there will be great surprise in many quarters if he overlooks Townsend and appoints another.

Suggestion of the possibility that Henry Ford might be selected was scoffed at on all sides, for although Ford was the defeated candidate in the contested election of Newberry, Groesbeck is a strong Republican.

WHY CULLINAN SPENT $35,000 IN LATE ELECTION.

Houston Chronicle.

Declaring that he is "retiring to the sidelines to watch and wait until the people of Texas recover their senses," J. S. Cullinan said Monday that he had renewed his resignation as president of the Texas Chamber of Commerce, withdrawn his membership from the organization, and would knowingly make no further contributions "to any individual, organization or church even remotely tainted with the poison of Ku Kluxism."

Mr. Cullinan added that he had no crow to pick with the Texas Chamber of Commerce. The organization itself is all right, he said. It is on record (by resolution adopted in October, 1921) as opposing Ku Kluxism, but, he added, "if our citizenship has reached a point where duty and obligations to the state and the nation are no longer recognized, I see no reason why we, as an organization or individuals, should devote our time, means and best efforts to the advancement of their interests."

"Accordingly," he said, "as applied to myself, I have determined to withdraw from all such activities, and, further, to decline to contribute to church, educational, economic or similar work until such time as our people come to their senses; until they are prepared to assume and faithfully meet the burdens as well as receive the benefits, a duty they owe to society as well as to their families; further eliminating religious prejudices which, history shows, when coupled with the race hatred have been the downfall of every nation where such antagonisms have been permitted to develop."

"The whole issue is the constitution versus chaos, the flag versus the seeds of revolution," Mr. Cullinan said. "When the recent political campaign opened, the issue was real enough to me to warrant my advancing $35,000 to the campaign for good government, of which George Peddy was our leader. It was real enough to warrant John H. Kirby advancing $30,000. Between us, we underwrote $55,000 in behalf of the people, of which I considered $5,000 as a straight contribution. The election of November 7 shows that the campaign of education—the effort to save this state from the peril of absolute ruin—was fruitless. Apparently a majority of the people don't want to be saved—yet."

According to the statement of receipts and disbursements filed at Austin Saturday by the managers of the coalition-independent campaign for senator, $73,295.13 was received and $73,050.89 spent. The record showed that Mr. Cullinan had put up loans is repaid we will feel richly tributed, and Mr. Kirby had put up $34,636.66, of which $5,000 was contribution. George Peddy's own expenses were only $900.

"I am informed that our young leader states that he intends making a complete repayment of funds advanced in his behalf." Mr. Cullinan said. "That is unnecessary and will not be permitted. His contribution to the cause of good government is already greater than mine and Mr. Kirby's put together. He gave of himself to the limit. If not a nickel of the money which we advanced as loans is repaid we will feel richly satisfied in the knowledge that at least 120,000 Texans went to the polls and wrote George Peddy's name on the ballot. I never met George Peddy until after the election, but I know him to be one of the most upright and most capable young men in Texas, to whom this state owes a great debt, a debt which, I believe, ultimately will be repaid."

"The result of this campaign shows," Mr. Cullinan said, "that a good portion of our electorate—the overwhelming portion, I may say—was either weak-kneed and thus intimidated, or were moral cowards. In this general category, one or the other, I list the Catholic and Jewish citizenship as a whole. The thrust at constitutional government delivered by the Ku Klux Klan the abominable campaign to destroy the ideals on which this government rests, come close to the Catholic and Jew, of which I am neither. Instead of doing their full duty, instead of coming out squarely to meet this menace, they have stood back and permitted the fight to be waged by Protestants and Gentiles who might, if they wished (God forbid!) be accepted in the invisible councils of the Ku Klux Klan. The fact stands out that of 1,200,000 qualified voters in Texas, 800,000 remained away from the polls. Eight hundred thousand moral cowards, or 800,000 people intimidated by the Ku Klux Klan. Take your pick."

"As for me," Mr. Cullinan said, "I am neither a Catholic nor a Jew. I am not a member of any church or any secret order, I am a plain American citizen who loves his country—its traditions, its accomplishments, its ideals and I can not see it drifting on the rocks, carried on the current of religious and racial intolerance, without lifting my voice in warning."

TURKEY BUSINESS OFFERS BIG INDUCEMENT TO WEST MARKET ALWAYS SHORT.

BY F. W. KAZMEIER.

The turkey business in Texas is undoubtedly one of the most profitable undertakings that the farmer can give considerable thought to their marketing problems. It is a fact that most agricultural products are being produced, either at a loss or at a very small margin of profit. Farmers as a whole are beginning to think more and more about possibility of producing something that they never have to fear a time of over-production. We have heard farmers say, "We can raise the stuff all right, but we can not sell it for a good price. They are at the mercy of the possibility of over-production. No doubt this applies to the average farmer. Take cotton for example, everybody knows that a large crop means a low price. The same holds true in the case of kaffir, milo and other farm crops. The danger of over-production is always a factor to consider. We feel sure that this does not apply to the turkey business. We shall give a few reasons, for our statement, that there is absolutely no danger of over-producing a supply of turkeys.

The entire United States affords a market for turkeys.

The turkey is considered a national dish, and on Thanksgiving and Christmas people are willing to pay any reasonable price for turkeys.

The growing of turkeys is limited to a very small section of the United States. Texas is today by far the leading turkey producing State.

Turkeys can not be grown in back yards, nor very successfully on small farms.

Turkeys can not be grown in large numbers in thickly populated rural sections.

Turkeys require a sandy soil, unlimited range and a dry climate. All of these important requirements are found in West Texas.

In the North, East and large parts of the West, the contagious disease, black head in turkeys, has forced a discontinuance of the business. Confinement, and other conditions found in those sections of the United States, are the main causes of this disease.

West Texas and parts of New Mexico no doubt will some day be called upon to produce the majority of the turkeys. In fact, it has almost come to this state of affairs at this time.

The man that has several sections of land in West Texas is indeed fortunate, because he has the opportunity of making money by raising turkeys. Several years ago when traveling extensively in West Texas, I could not help but notice the vast stretches of arid land, apparently not being cultivated or in use at all. At the time we could not help but believe that some day a great need for this land would be found. A person can get on the Santa Fe at Temple, go as far as San Angelo and see thousands of acres that are most ideal for the profitable production of turkeys. One can take the Southern Pacific out of San Antonio to El Paso, by Del Rio and see vast acres of land that is as though made specially for turkeys raising. The Texas and Pacific out of Fort Worth traverses an area that appears almost boundless and wonderfully adapted for the extensive production of turkeys. The area between the Texas and Pacific out of Fort Worth and the Fort Worth and Denver is perhaps the very best of all the locations. The land is ideal, being rolling and of a sandy loam. This country no doubt will some day be the greatest turkey producing area in the United States, in fact we would not be surprised to see this industry specialized in this section, until it will be world renowned for its turkeys. We can see nothing that West Texas farmers can do that will mean as sure money as turkey raising.

Some sections are noted for its cotton. We believe that West Texas will some day be noted for its turkeys. We would like to call attention of all West Texas Chamber of Commerce, that there is one dead certain money making proposition to tie to and that is the turkey business. The turkey in West Texas can make the farmer prosperous. It is about time our farmers wake up to these great opportunities. West Texas is naturally ideal turkey raising country. Many farmers are aware of this fact. Many farmers know that the turkey crop for the past several years has paid the taxes and other necessities of life. The turkey in West Texas is the savior of the country.

We do not wish to paint an alluring picture of the turkey business as a get rich quick scheme. Far from it we wish only to point out the wonderful possibilities as yet almost undeveloped. We are aware of the fact that there are many stumbling blocks in the turkey business. There are turkey diseases, troubles, varmint and other things that are factors hindering the turkey business. We are sincere in our belief that any man that is willing to apply himself to the turkey business for several years, work and study the business, will find it a very profitable undertaking.

Now is the time to select the breeding stock. Too many people the serious mistake of selling off their largest and earliest hatched turkeys on the market because they demand a premium. This is a fatal error. The best should always be saved for breeding purposes. Select the early hatched and those that show early maturity for breeders. We have found one of the best ways of eliminating turkey disease is by selecting exceptionally healthy and vigorous breeders. Select breeders that are more or less immune to the disease of black head.

There are many breeds of turkeys, the most common of which are the Bronze, White Holland, Bourbon Red and Slate. Of all these the Bronze heads the list as a profitable market turkey. The Bronze also appears to be the most healthy, vigorous and strongest. The Bronze turkey is gradually winning in favor and as an all-round turkey they are unexcelled. The Bronze turkey resembles the wild turkey very much, in shape, appearance and disposition. In fact, the Bronze is nothing more than the wild turkey domesticated. As a market turkey, select the Bronze turkey. If you are interested from the fancier's standpoint any of the other varieties will do.

We do not believe that it is possible or at least not practical to try to raise turkeys extensively in confinement. The turkey is naturally a bird of a roving disposition and will not do well in close confinement. We would in such a case recommend the raising of chickens instead of turkeys. A recent news letter from the United States Department of Agriculture stressed the greatly decreased growing of turkeys. The main reason advanced was the increased rural population. The department appears concerned regarding the possible almost extermination of the turkey industry.

The breeding stock should not be too old and not too young. Late hatched turkeys are unsatisfactory. The first year. Toms that are too old are equally unsatisfactory. Experience would indicate that 2-year-old turkeys are the best for breeding purposes. Many turkey raisers make it a practice to have the flock composed half of old stock and half of early hatched young stock. One thing is certain, turkeys should not be used for breeding until they are fully developed and matured.

This practice is considered very detrimental in the turkey business. In the raising of turkeys we are primarily interested in size and vigor. These two things we are sure to loose by in-breeding. In the breeding of common chickens systematic in-breeding has been found safe, practical and profitable as well as desirable from the breeder's standpoint. Not so in the turkey business. Never inbreed, under any circumstances. Some breeders make a practice of introducing new blood each year. Others only do it once every two years. All place considerable emphasis on the importance of it.

Fifteen turkey hens can safely be mated to one turkey tom, and some turkey raisers mate as many as 20 females with one male. Where more than one turkey is allowed with the flock the best plan appears to be to use one tom in the morning and another in the afternoon. In this way as many as 40 hens can be kept in one flock. The toe nails and spurs of the toms should be cut off and trimmed smooth to prevent injuring the hens.

AN EXTRAORDINARY SITUATION THAT MUST BE MET BY EXTRAORDINARY MEASURES.

In the past few weeks the smuggling of liquor in the United States has assumed a most serious aspect.

On the Canadian border it is not uncommon for wagons to drive down to the line in broad daylight, unloading cases of liquor in full sight of American authorities. At night automobiles cross the line, load up and return to bootleg centers at high rates of speed, ready to pass out $50 bills or bullets.

According to the public press a ten million dollar "rum fleet" is outside the three-mile limit at the writing. It is expected to make a concerted dash for the American shore at widely distant points. Meanwhile American authorities rock helplessly on the three-mile limit.

The bootlegger in New York and other eastern cities is usually a furtive-eyed and murderous slum gunman. In the middle states and upper south, he is usually a negro who gets his liquor from a criminal white wholesaler. In the far south he is most likely to be a product of country slums, quick to fire and deadly of aim.

These criminals are at war with the United States and are being incited to that war by utterances of anti-prohibitionist speakers and writers who are preaching the doctrine that it is a virtue to defy the United States Government when it dares to lay its hand upon the sacred liquor traffic. Many of these anti-prohibitionist propagandists are foreign born and are preaching nothing less than war. Mr. Mencken urges his anti-prohibition cohorts to use the bullet. Mr. Fabian Franklin thinks that the Eighteenth Amendment comes "perilously near" to being a law which it is not only the right, but the duty of "sound citizens" to ignore.

This kind of preaching, working on the feeble intellects and unstable characters of criminals, has been directly productive of murder.

The thing to be done is this: the United States Government should recognize that the operations of smugglers and rum running bootleggers constitutes nothing but war upon the country. So-called "rum fleets" should be met in exactly the same way that the German fleet would have been met in 1918. The United States Navy kept submarines from the American shores during the war. A half dozen United States destroyers can keep smugglers from American shores. They are known. Their purpose is known. The only thing to do is to demonstrate that the game is not worth the candle, that the American Government is still mightier than traitors or criminals within or enemies without.

Civilized nations for many generations have known how to deal with pirates. For nearly one hundred years they have known how to deal with slave running ships. The idea that the United States must now sit helpless on its shores while open war is made upon it beyond a narrow fringe of water is not an idea that the American people should tolerate.

REPUBLICAN REVOLT EXPECTED ON SHIP SUBSIDY BILL.

In the face of the country's verdict against the Republican Congress and the Republican administration, returned by the voters last Tuesday, President Harding has made good his promise to urge the pass of the ship bonus bill, which contemplates the sale of the Government's merchant marine for $2,800,000 less than its cost and the bestowal of $750,000,000 in subsidies on its purchasers. A special session of Congress is to be called for November 20, it is officially announced, that the ship bonus bill may be rushed to enactment, if possible before March 4, 1923.

The veiled principle upon which the Republican profiteers' tariff law is predicated is the foundation of the ship bonus bill. The latter like the former has for its purpose—and in the minds of its advocates has for its justification also—the granting of public funds to private interest under the color of conferring a public benefit.

It is believed that many Republican Senators who are to confront the voters in 1924 and Republican Representatives who narrowly escaped with their political lives last Tuesday will not be obedient followers of President Harding in passing the ship bonus bill as they were enacting the profiteers' tariff bill. If the President hasn't learned anything from the election it is felt that most of the Republican Congressmen have derived a salutary lesson from it and are not likely to forget it within the short space of thirteen days.

President Harding will find the marshaling of enough votes to pass his pet measure in the special session or the regular session beginning next month a difficult task it is predicted. It is expected that instead of a quick disposal of the bill, the President may be met in Senate by a demand for an investigation of the auspices under which the ship bonus scheme was conceived.

CHRISTMAS EVE of YESTERYEAR

CHRISTMAS eve of long ago!

Little stockings in a row,
Hung with care, and mouths all wide,
Beggings by the chimney side.

Children's chatter, eager, sweet,
Rompings patter of little feet;
Hearts all fluttering with delight,
Eyes with questioning wonder bright.

Children, when their prayers were said,
Frolicking away to bed,
With the Child of Bethlehem in their hearts, a child with them!

Home hearts, which home joys could fill,
Shrines of peace and all good-will;
Happy hands of parent thrift
Placing for each child some gift.

Little stockings in a row,
Filled at last from top to toe!—
Years nor grief can dim its glow,
Christmas eve of long ago!

—Stokely S. Fisher.

Christmas Land

O, Christmas Land is not so far,
It's just across the hall
Within the little living room
Where holly decks the wall.
Right in the middle stands a tree
With crimson tinsel gay.
And strange and wondrous is the fruit
It bears on Christmas day.

An apple and an orange grow
Upon the same green bough,
A wagon and a rocking horse,
A sled and spotted cow;
And nuts and sparkling sugar plums,
And drums and skates and horns,
And dolls with flaxen tresses drop
Like pears on windy morns.

But only little boys and girls
That always mind at school
And know their daily lessons well,
And try to keep each rule,
And say their prayers every night,
Can hope to join the band
Of happy children 'round the tree
That grows in Christmas Land.

A TONIC

Grove's Tasteless chill Tonic restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value. Grove's Tasteless chill Tonic is simply Iron and Quinine suspended in syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs QUININE to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. Destroys Malarial germs and Grip germs by its Strengthening Invigorating Effect.

Rev. I. F. Key left Monday for Marshall to attend the Annual Conference which will be held in that city beginning Wednesday morning. Bishop John M. Moore will preside over the deliberations of that body, and it will probably be next Monday before the appointments will be read.

The congregation of the Methodist church are very hopeful for the return of Rev. Key and family for another year.

His Real Name

YOUNG January being poor wears nothing but his skin.
While February in a robe of ermine rare comes in.
March shivers in a worn brown cloak, and April, frail and fair, is folded in a rainbow scarf with snowdrops in her hair.

May dons the apple blossom's pink and June the rose's red.

July is faded overall picks cherries for his bread.
And August treads the sunny fields a stately ladies queen
Apparalled like standing corn in silken gold and green.

September, purple crested, bears a basket piled with grapes.
Dark amethystine globes from which a juicy dew escapes.

October is a cavalier, so flaunts a crimson plume,
November, telling beads of rain, is couled in fog and gloom.

But when December comes, behold! he's whickered, booted, furred,
His ringing laughter like the sound of merry bells is heard.

His arms are filled with many gifts and holly wreaths because
The little children knew him first and named him Santa Claus.

GOVERNMENT TO CUT MELON ON JANUARY FIRST 1923.

Dallas, Texas, Nov. 21.—War Savings Certificates of the 1918 Series, held by residents of this reserve district in amounts totaling about $100,000,000 mature for paying January 1 at the rate of 85 for each 1918 Series War-Savings Stamp affixed.

The privilege of immediately exchanging their holdings of 1918 War-Savings Stamps for Treasury Savings Certificates of the Series 1923, or the cashing of them as of January 1 is given owners by the Treasury Department, according to announcement made by Dinsmore W. Hume, Federal Savings Director, whose headquarters are in the Federal Reserve Bank here.

The Stamps of the 1918 Series, affixed to 1918 Series War-Savings Certificates, should now be presented to money-order postoffices, banks, Federal Reserve Banks or their branches for payment as of January 1, or in immediate exchange for 1923 Series Treasury Savings Certificates the director points out.

Owners are requested to ask their postmasters or bankers for detailed information and the proper forms (P. D. 750) which accompany surrendered 1918 Series War-Savings Stamps.

The Securities for which these stamps may be exchanged are Treasury Savings Certificates issued in (maturity value) denominations of $25, $100 and $1,000 the cost of which is $20.50, $82 and $820, respectively, all of which are obtainable at Post-offices. When issued they are automatically registered in the owner's name against any form of loss or depreciation. They yield a total of about 21.95 per cent if held sixty months. They are readily convertible into cash at the owner's desire.

Exchanges will now be made as of January 1 upon applications presented between November 15 and January 15. Immediate payment will be made in cash of any difference due the holder of War-Savings Stamps if he takes the largest possible amount of Treasury Savings Certificates on the exchange. In other instances cash payment will be made as of January 1.

Registered War-Savings Certificates should be presented only to the post-office where registered.

Nearly every person in this district, including children, purchased one or more $5 War-Savings Stamps in 1918. They are widely owned, Mr. Hume said.

In this district children of school age are credited with having invested in $15,000,000 of War-Savings Stamps of all issues. This saving by children was due largely to the teaching of thrift as a study in the schools, declared Director Hume.

When presenting War-Savings Certificates of the 1918 Series for surrender, the owner should sign on the "received payment line" provided therefore, dating the surrender January 1, 1923 or date of later surrender if after that date.

CORPUS CHRISTI GIRL BOUND AND THROWN INTO BAY.

Corpus Christi, Texas, Nov. 18.—Standing waist deep in Corpus Christi bay where she had been thrown by an unknown Mexican who, she says, attacked her, bound her hand and foot and threw her in the water. Isabelle Pate, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pate, was able finally to free her hands and escape to the shore early tonight. The girl, her clothing drenched, appeared at the home of H. D. C. Gussett and told her story of the attack. The police were notified and are looking for the Mexican.

Wash Kidneys If They Hurt

Take Salts to flush Kidneys if Back pains or Bladder bothers.

Flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much meat and rich food may form uric acid, which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick head, ache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acids of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer irritates, thus often ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink.

Asside from nervousness and a thorough wetting, the girl is unharmed.

According to the child's story, she was on her way from her home to her father's jewelry store to get some bundles which she was to bring back home. As she approached the First Methodist church at the corner of Mann and Mesquite Streets, a Mexican suddenly attacked her, frightened her into silence, then bound her hand and foot. Without offering her any further violence, the man picked her up, carried her to the bay at the foot of Main Street and threw her in the water, she says.

At this point the water was about waist deep and as the Mexican left immediately after throwing her in the bay, the girl said she regained her footing and managed while standing in the water to work her hands out of the insecurely tied knots. She then stooped down and after much effort released her feet.

Mr. and Mrs. Pate both were downtown at the time of the attack, the little girl having been instructed to come down and meet her mother on her way to the father's store. When the mother failed to meet Isabelle and did not find her at home, nor at her father's store, she gave the alarm. It was at about the same time that Isabelle appeared at the Gussett residence.

REPUBLICAN TARIFF SENATORS REPUDIATED

Repudiation and relegation of Republican senators who were conspicuous supporters of the Fordney-McCumber profiteers tariff law is one of the outstanding results of last Tuesday's election. Seven of its principal advocates in the Senate were defeated in this election, and two—Senator McCumber of North Dakota, its co-author, and Senator New, of Indiana had already been overthrown by voters of their primaries last summer while the iniquities of the bill were under public discussion.

Senator Calder of New York, who became notorious as the special agent of the Glove Interests in the concoction of the profiteers tariff admits that his defeat was due in part to his work and vote in behalf of the measure. Whether the other Republican Senators who have been replaced by Democrats will make the same admission is not of consequence. It is plain to every one else that the Republican profiteers' tariff and the Senators who imposed it on the people were in trial and were condemned.

It is well to remember the names of these Republican Senators who were crushed by the tariff Frankenstein. They are: Senators Calder, of New York, Du Pont of Delaware, France of Maryland, Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, Kellogg of Minnesota, Sutherland of West Virginia, and Townsend of Michigan. Senator New and McCumber are also casualties chargeable to the profiteers' bill.

In order to punish some of these Senators for their part in inflicting this outrageous tariff on the country the people of the several states regarded as invincibly Republican forgot their traditions and their partisanship and elected Democrats and others to succeed these Republican aids to Special Privilege. Minnesota and Michigan, West Virginia and North Dakota are some of these.

Mrs. William Bacon has been named a beneficiary to the extent of approximately $120,000 in a bill of sale by the late L. A. Pires, capitalist and pioneer resident of Dallas, who died here July 3 of this year.

Mrs. Gacon, who resides at 3625 Beverly Drive, is named the beneficiary in a bill of sale left by Mr. Pires separate from his will. The bequest gives her the title to 300 shares of stock in the City National Bank, which have a present value of about $400 each on the open market.

E. O. Tension, chairman of the board of directors of the City National Bank, said Saturday that no official action had been taken with the bank regarding the shares. Mr. Pires was one of the directors of the bank at the time of his death.

Mr. Pires was for many years a close friend of both Mr. and Mrs. Bacon, and was often entertained at their home. The friendship began in Greenville, where Mr. and Mrs. Bacon formerly lived. Mr. Pires was a bachelor and had no relatives here. He resides at the Dallas Club.—Dallas News.

CONTRACT TO BE LET FOR LIBERTY-HANOVER ROAD

The letting of the contract to build a sixty-foot wide highway from Milano to Liberty and Hanover is being held up on account of some of the property owners not having moved their fences back, thus giving the highway the stipulated sixty-feet in width. According to officials, the bids will not be called for until the fences are moved back. This method has been taken so that the contractors will not be delayed on account of property owners not having their fences moved back. This matter is of vital importance to Milano, and is expected to be taken up by several of the residents living in that territory.

MILANO IS TO HAVE ELECTRIC LIGHTS

One of the greatest drawbacks, that has been confronted by Milano for the many years of existence, is about to be solved by the Texas Power and Light Company. They will build a three phase line to all the coal mines in the county that anticipate running a 2300 voltage line to Cameron. It is very likely and the matter is before New York office that they will bring a high powered line through Milano going on to Hearne. Electric lights will help wonderfully toward beautifying the town and will be a great help here in the way of power, as well as lights.—Milano Gazette.

J. A. McCLELLON DEAD.

Mr. J. A. McClellon, who has for over thirty-five years resided about four miles east of Milano, died at the home of his daughter Mrs. J. J. Martin, at Frankal, Texas. Mr. McClellon was sixty five years old, living over half of that time near Milano, where his good citizenship was highly appreciated. His daughter Mrs. G. C. Walker of Gause, with her husband passed through Milano Wednesday going to Temple where they met the corpse.

The remains were brought to Cameron Wednesday afternoon and were buried at the Marlow cemetery Thursday.

Mr. McClellon leaves a wife and five children: Mrs. G. C. Walker, Gause; G. B. McClellon, Ranger; R. G. McClellon, Cameron; Mrs. Luther Reese, Milano; H. B. McClellon, Chicago, Ill.; and Mrs. J. J. Martin, Frankal Texas. Mr. McClellon was confined to his bed for several months before he died. He had been at his home until two weeks ago when he was carried to West Texas, that it might improve his health.

The Gazette joins the McClellon family and its large circle of friends in sympathizing with them in the loss of their beloved husband and father.

MACHINERY FOR THE MON
ASHLEY NO. ONE IS HERE

The machinery for the Mon Ashley No. 1, which is located about three miles northeast of Milano on the Ashley farm, has arrived. This completes the necessary drilling equipment and the spudding in of the well is expected to take place the first of next week. The machinery was located at Temple Wednesday and brought to Milano Thursday where unloading and hauling to the drilling site was started. This equipment got lost while en route here and for several weeks been expected to arrive on any day. Much interest was manifested at the showing up of the machinery and the first class equipment that they are using. Every one is expected to watch the well closely.

This well is being drilled by The Milano Uplift Oil Syndicate of Los Angeles, California, which company has a field office here under supervision of Dr. H. E. Elliott.—Milano Gazette.

DIPPING LAW BEING CARRIED OUT.

Wednesday found many of the herds of cattle at the dipping vats. Last week it was expected that a quarantine would be placed over the dipping vats for the reason of the Milam people not complying with the dipping laws. Every one seems to be dipping this week, and it is likely that everyone in this district will dip says W.O. Newton, Special Inspector.—Milano Gazette.

MAYFIELD CARRIES MILANO 2-1.

Earle B. Mayfield, the Democratic nominee carried the Milano box exactly two to one to a vote. The vote cast here November 7 was the lightest vote cast during the 1922 elections. Only 134 votes were polled, less than half polled in the Democratic primary. The light vote here, it is thought, was due to bad weather preventing the country people from coming to the poll. However, the senatorial wrangle kept many voters away from the polls, according to expressions heard on the Streets Tuesday. Very little interest was shown here. Most every one who could get to town just walked up to the voting place, cast their vote and said very little about the matter.—Milano Gazette.

BRINGING MATERIAL HERE FOR BEN MILAM HIGHWAY.

Two carloads of bridging material arrived here Tuesday and was being unloaded Wednesday for the Ben Milam Highway, which is under construction between Cameron and the Burleson county line and running through Milano. These two cars consist of cast iron pipe two feet in diameter which will be used for drainage purposes culverting the highway in several different places.

Grading is still under way on the South end. Contractors expect to finish the grading south of town some time next week, according to Hon. C. M. Beard. Surfacing will then begin. Milano Gazette.

"Slimy Taste"

"When I feel stupid, get constipated, or bilious, I take a good dose of two of Black-Draught and it sets me straight," writes Mr. George B. Haislep, of R. F. D. 2, Columbia, S. C. "It cleanses the liver and I feel all right, and have not used any other medicine as I do not see the need of it. I am a guard at the State Reformatory, and have been for three or more years. When I first heard of and the good medicine it was, I had been having a tired feeling when I'd get up in the morning. I would be stiff and sore, and had a slimy, bad taste in my mouth, but didn't think so much of it till I began to feel stupid and didn't feel like eating—then I knew I needed medicine. It was then I began Black-Draught, and I felt all made over, ready for any kind of work, ready to eat and sleep. So, for any return of this trouble, I take Black-Draught, and for 25 years it has been my medicine, and I wouldn't be without it at all. My work is constant. I am on my feet a lot. I am out of doors, and fresh air and Black-Draught are all the medicines I need. I recommend it to others for I know it is good."

BLACK-DRAUGHT

S. W. JAMES A VICTIM OF HEART FAILURE.

Mr. S. W. James, a prosperous farmer of the Nile community dropped dead of heart failure Tuesday morning while at the home of Perry Penny, neighbor, where he had gone for medicine for a sick horse. He was known to have suffered from a leaky heart for sometime but he had been to Thorndale several times recently and was looking after his business as usual and no warning was given of the impending end, and his death was a severe shock to the family and many friends.

He was 78 years old on the day of his death, having been born on Nov. 14, 1944, in Monroe county, Alabama. He came to Texas about fifty years ago, settling in Lee county, after which he moved to Milam and made his home near Nile. He was married to Miss Harriett Ellen Williamson in 1865 and to this union six children, four boys and two girls were born all of whom survive and were present at the funeral except one daughter. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. John Moore of near San Gabriel and interment was made in the City Cemetery at Thorndale.

He was a member of the Baptist church, joining when only fifteen years of age. The Champion joins a host of friends and relatives in sympathy for the wife and children in their sorrow.—Thorndale Champion.

J. J. SIDES DIES AT TAYLOR.

Mr. J. J. Sides, for many years a resident of the Lawrence Chapel community but for the past three years a resident of Taylor, died in the Taylor Sanitarium on Friday of last week. He had suffered from heart trouble for several years.

The deceased was 73 years of age, being born at Bastrop 1849. He moved to Lawrence Chapel when only four years of age, and since he was left an orphan by the civil war he shouldered the responsibilities of caring for the family quite young. He was married to Miss Louana Oliver at Lawrence Chapel in 1872 where they made their home until three years ago when they moved to Taylor.

Besides the wife seven children, all grown, survive him. They are: Mrs. J. L. Hill, Paris, Texas; T. J. Sides, Lubbock, Texas; Mrs. E. L. Laurence Thorndale, Texas; J. E. Sides, San Antonio, Texas; Mrs. Chas. Johnson, Austin, Texas; Mrs. Ollie Baker, Thorndale, and W. F. Sides, Oklahoma City.

Interment was made last Saturday at Lawrence Chapel, Rev. Jester, pastor of the First Baptist church of Taylor, conducted the funeral services.

The Champion, along with the many friends of the family, extends its sincere sympathy to the bereaved one.—Thorndale Champion.

NEW BUILDING FOR CURRIE SCHOOL DISTRICT.

With the sale of the school bonds for Currie for $4,311.67, which is par and accrued interest, Milam county soon will have 30 new rural schools that have been built during the past eight years.

Work on the Currie school building will start within the next two weeks, it is announced.

STATE OWES COUNTY $12,800.

State of Texas owes the schools of Milam county $12,800 from last year, according to an announcement Wednesday by Jim F. Chadwick, county superintendent.

The schools of the county are supposed to receive $13 per capita for educational purposes, but only $12 of it has been paid by the state. This places many of the schools in an embarrassing situation, it is said.

WHITE-HOUSE MOTOR CO.

Not less than 2,000 cars per day will be produced within six months by the Chevrolet Motor Company, according to Wm. S. Knudsen, vice president in charge of operations.

"Additional space is imperatively needed," said Mr. Knudsen, "in order to meet the increasing demands for Chevrolet cars."

"We have secured at Buffalo, N. Y., 29 1-2 acres of land about four miles from the center of the city. On it we will erect 400,000 square feet of floor space for Chevrolet production, and the Fisher Body Corporation will erect 200,000 square feet on the same plot for the production of Fisher Bodies for Chevrolet. Chevrolet will employ about 2,000 men and Fisher about 1,800. The payrolls will total about $23,000 daily."

"At Cincinnati, 16 acres have been acquired in the suburb of Norwood about 5 1-2 miles from the Cincinnati City Hall. Here Chevrolet will have 200,000 square feet of floor space and Fisher 150,000."

"Chevrolet will employ about 1,200 men and Fisher about 900 in the production of about 300 cars per day, with a daily payroll of $14,000."

"The combined productions of these new plants, 800 per day, plus present facilities of 1,300 per day will provide a grand total production of about 2,100 Chevrolets per day as soon as these new plants are on a basis of full operation."

PARENTS' HOPE IS IN THE FUTURE OF THEIR CHILDREN

You would be a very unnatural parent if you did not wish to give your boy or girl the best educational advantages that are in your power—a very thoughtless parent if you sent him to the first school that mailed you a catalogue, and an unpardonable parent if you entered him in a school without first investigating its location, equipment, character of student body, faculty, system of discipline, and above all the moral surroundings. Yours is the duty of investigation, comparison and ultimate decision.

Your boy or girl is the hope of your life. In him or her is centered your most cherished ambitions. His or her worth to you cannot be measured by dollars and cents, but must be measured by the training received in the home and at school.

The Story of Aqua Pura

By WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE

Copyright, 1922, by the Macmillan Co.

PEOPLE who write about Kansas, as a rule, write ignorantly, and speak of the state as a finished product. Kansas, like Gaul of old, is divided into three parts, differing as widely, each from the other, as any three countries in the same latitude upon the globe. It would be as untrue to classify together the Egyptian, the Indian and the Central American, as to speak of the Kansas man without distinguishing between the eastern Kansan, the central Kansan, and the western Kansan. Eastern Kansas is a finished community like New York or Pennsylvania. Central Kansas is finished, but not quite paid for; and western Kansas, the only place where there is any suffering from drought or crop failures, is a new country—old only in a pluck which is slowly conquering the desert.

Aqua Pura was a western Kansas town, set high up, far out on the prairie. It was founded nine years ago, at the beginning of the boom, not by cowboys and ruffians, but by honest, ambitious men and women. Of the six men who staked out the town site, two—Johnson and Barringer—were Harvard men; one, Nickols, was from Princeton; and the other three, Bemis, Bradley and Hicks, had come from inland state universities. When their wives came West there was a Vassar reunion, and the first mail that arrived after the post office had been established brought the New York magazines. The town was like dozens of others that sprang up far out in the treacherous wilderness in that fresh, green spring of 1886.

They called it Aqua Pura, choosing a Latin name to proclaim to the world that it was not a rowdy town. The new yellow pine of the little village gleamed in the clear sunlight. It could be seen for miles on a clear, warm day, as it stood upon a rise of ground; and over in Maize, six miles away, the electric lights of Aqua Pura, which flashed out in the evening before the town was six months old, could be seen distinctly. A schoolhouse that cost twenty thousand dollars was built before the town had seen its first winter; and the first Christmas ball in Aqua Pura was held in an opera house that cost ten thousand. Money was plentiful; two and three-story buildings rose on each side of the main street of the little place. The farmers who had taken homesteads in the country around the town had prospered.

Barringer was elected mayor at the municipal election in the spring of '87, and he platted out Barringer's Addition, and built a house there with borrowed money in June. There were two thousand people in Aqua Pura then.

There was not a lawless element. There was not a saloon in the town. A billiard hall, and a dark room, wherein cards might be played surreptitiously, were the only institutions which made the people of Aqua Pura blush, when they took the innumerable "Eastern capitalists" over the town who visited western Kansas that year. These "capitalists" were entertained at a three-story brick hotel, equipped with electricity and modern plumbing in order to excel Maize, where the hotel was an indifferent frame affair.

This is the story of the rise. Barringer has told it a thousand times. Barringer believed in the town to the last. When the terrible drought of 1887, with its furnace-like breath singed the town and the farms in Fountain county, Barringer led the majority which proudly claimed that the country was all right; and as chairman of the board of county commissioners, he sent a scathing message to the governor, refusing aid. Barringer's own bank loaned money on land, whereon the crop had failed, to tide the farmers over the winter. Barringer's signature guaranteed loans from the East upon everything negotiable, and Aqua Pura thrived for a time upon promises. Here and there, in the spring of 1888, there was an empty building. One room of the opera house block was vacant. Barringer started a man in business, selling notions, who occupied the room. Barringer went East and pleaded with the men who had invested in the town to be easy on their debtors. Then came the hot winds of July, blowing out of the southwest, scorching the grass, shriveling the grain, and drying up the streams that had filled in the spring. During the fall of that year the hotel, which had been open only in the lower story, closed. The opera house began to be used for "aid" meetings, and when the winter wind blew dust-blackened snow through the desolate streets of the little town, it rattled a hundred windows in vacant houses, and sometimes blew sun-warped boards from the high sidewalk that led across the gully to the big red grade of the unfinished "Chicago Air Line."

Barringer did not go East that year. He could not. But he wrote—wrote regularly and bravely to the Eastern capitalists who were concerned in his bank and loan company; and they grew colder and colder as the winter deepened and the interest on defaulted loans came out. Barringer's failure was announced in the spring of '89. Nickols had left. Johnson had left. The other founders of Aqua Pura had died in '87-'88, and their families had gone, and with them the culture and the ambition of the town. But Barringer held on and lived, rent free, in the two front rooms of the barn of a hotel. His daughter, Mary, frail, tanned, hollow-eyed and withered by the droughts lived with him.

In 1890 the hot winds came again in the summer and long and steady they blew, blighting everything. There were only five hundred people in Fountain county that year, and they lived on the taxes from the railroad that crossed the county. Families were put on the poor list without disgrace—it was almost a mark of political distinction—and in the little town many devices were in vogue to distribute the county funds during the winter.

There was no rain that winter and the snow was hard and dry. Cattle on the range suffered for water and died by the thousands. A procession from the little town started eastward early in the spring. White-canopied wagons, sought the rising sun.

Christmas eve, 1891, the entire village, fifteen souls in all, assembled at Barringer's house. He was hopeful, even cheerful, and talked bitterly of what "one good crop" would do for the country; although there were no farmers left to plant it, even if nature had been harboring a smile for the dreary land. The year that followed that Christmas promised much. There were spring rains, and in May the brown grass and the scattered patches of wheat grew green and fair to see. Barringer freshened up perceptibly. He sent an account of his indebtedness—on home-ruled manilla paper—to his creditors in the East, and faithfully assured them that he would remit all he owed in the fall. A few wanderers straggled into Fountain county, lured by the green fields and running brooks. The gray prairie wolf gave up the dug-out to human occupants. Lights in the prairie cabins twinkled back hope to the stars. Before June there were a thousand people in Fountain county. Aqua Pura's business houses seemed to live up. There was a Fourth of July celebration in town. But the rain that spoiled the advertised "fireworks in the evening" was the last store buildings. He walked up and down in the little paths through the brown weeds in the deserted streets, all day long, talking to himself. At night when the prairie wind rattled through the empty building, blowing snow and sand down the halls, and in little drifts upon the broken stairs, the old man's lamp was seen by straggling travelers burning far into the night. He told his daily visitors that he was keeping his books.

Thus the winter passed. The grass came with the light mist of March. By May it had lost its color. By June it was brown, and the hot winds came again in August, curving the warped boards a little deeper on the floor of the hotel porch. Herders and travelers, straggling back to the green country, saw him sitting there at twilight, looking toward the southwest, a grizzled, unkempt old man, with a shifting light in his eye. To such as spoke to him he always made the same speech: "Yes, it looks like rain, but it can't rain. The rain has gone dry here. They say it rained at Hutchinson, maybe so, I doubt it. There is no God west of Newton. He dried up in '90. They talk irrigation. That's an old story in hell. Where's Johnson? Not here! Where's Nickols? Not here! Bemis? Not here! Bradley? Not here! Hicks? Not here! Where's handsome Dick Barringer, Hon. Richard Barringer? Here! Here he is, holding down a hot brick in a cooling room of hell! Yes, it does look like rain, doesn't it?"

Cattle roamed the streets in the early spring, but the stumbling of the animals upon the broken walks, did not disturb him, and the winds and the drought soon drove them away. The messenger with provisions came every morning. The summer, with its awful heat, began to glow. The lightning and the thunder joked insolently in the distance at noon; and the stars in the deep, dry blue looked down, and mocked the old man's prayers as he sat, at night, on his rickety sentry box. He tottered through the deserted stores calling his roll. Night after that fell until winter. A carload of aid from central Kansas saved a hundred lives in Fountain county that year.

When the spring of 1893 opened, Barringer looked ten years older than he looked the spring before.

It was his habit to sit on the front porch of the deserted hotel and look across the prairies to the southwest and watch the breaking clouds scatter into the blue of the twilight. He could see the empty water tower silhouetted against sky. The frame buildings that rose in the boom days had all been moved away. He sat and waited, hoping fondly for the realization of a dream which he feared could never come true.

There were days when the postmaster's four-year-old child sat with him. The old man and the child sat thus one evening when the old man sighed: "If it would only rain, there would be half a crop yet! If it would only rain!" The child heard him and sighed imitatively: "Yes, if it would only rain—what is rain, Mr. Barringer?" He looked at the child blankly and sat for a long time in silence. When he arose he did not even have a pretense of hope. He grew despondent from that hour, and a sort of hypochondria seized him.

That fall when the winds piled the sand in the railroad "cuts" and the prairie was as hard and barren as the ground around a cabin door, Barringer's daughter died of fever. The old man seemed little moved by sorrow.

That winter the postmaster left. The office was discontinued. The county commissioners tried to get Barringer to leave. He would not be persuaded to go. The county commissioners were not insistent. It gave one of them an excuse for drawing four dollars a day from the county treasury; he rode from Maize to Aqua Pura every day with supplies for Barringer.

The old man cooked, ate, and slept in the office of the hotel. Day after day he put on his overcoat in the winter and made the rounds of the vacant night he walked to the red clay grade of the uncompleted "Air Line" and looked over the dead level stretches of prairie. He would have gone away, but something held him to the town. There he had risked all. Here, perhaps, in his warped fancy, he hoped to regain all. He had written so often, "Times will be better in the spring," that it was part of his confession of faith—that and "One good crop will bring the country around all right." This was written with red clay in the old man's nervous hand on the side of the hotel, on the faded signs, on the deserted inner walls of the stores—in fact, everywhere in Aqua Pura.

The wind told on him; it withered him and sapped his energy.

One morning he awoke and a strange sound greeted his ears. There was a gentle tapping in the building and a roar that was not the gulfaw of the wind. He rushed for the door. He saw the rain, and bareheaded he ran to the middle of the streets where it was pouring down. The messenger from Maize with the day's supplies found him standing there, vacantly, almost thoughtfully, looking up, the rain dripping from his grizzled head, and rivulets of water trickling about his shoes.

"Hello, Uncle Dick," said the messenger. "Enjoying the prospect? River's risin'; better come back with me."

But the old man only answered, "Johnson? Not here! Nickols? Not here! Bemis? Not here! Bradley? Not here! Hicks? Not here! And Barringer? Here! And now God's moved the rain belt west. Moved so far west that there's hope for Lazarus to get irrigation from Abraham."

And with this the old man went into the house. There, when the five days' rain had ceased, and when the great river that flooded the barren plain had shrunk, the rescuing party, coming from Maize, found him. Beside his bed were his balanced books and his legal papers. In his dead eyes were a thousand dreams.

HUDSON AND ESSEX WIN OVERWHELMING VICTORY IN HILL CLIMBS NEAR UTICA.

Hudson and Essex cars achieved an overwhelming victory in the recent hill climb near Utica, N. Y., defeating every stock car entered regardless of size of piston displacement. Out of a possible four first places in stock events, Hudson and Essex cars won four, and out of a possible five second places they won five.

The only car to win out over the Super-Six and the Essex was a car specially built for hill climbing.

Here is an indication as to just how sweeping the Hudson-Essex victory was. A Super-Six Coach was entered in the fourth and fifth events—the fourth being for closed cars only and fourth being for closed cars only and the fifth for all stock cars from a standing start. The Coach easily won the fourth event by six seconds in 50 3-5 seconds, and in that event set a faster time than any other stock car, open or closed, except Hudson or Essex, was able to make all afternoon. In the fifth event it let nine other makes of open models to the top and was beaten only by Hudson and Essex open cars.

Cars making the climb were entered by the Mohawk Valley Motors, Inc., distributors at Utica, and by two private Hudson and Essex owners, each of whom won a first place. Fred R. Thomas of Binghamton, owner of the private Essex, also won the Vicker-man hill climb at Utica last year and more recently one at Syracuse with his 1920 model. Mr. Thomas says "there is no car on four wheels that can touch an Essex at anywhere near its price."

MALONE-TABOR.

The following account of a marriage which took place at Brady a few days ago is of special interest to Chambliss readers for the reason that the bridegroom mentioned is our own Bob Tabor of the Conley community. He is a splendid young man. He is the soul of honor, industrious and accommodating, and few there be who has more friends in that community. The Brady Standard says:

"A wedding of special interest to many McCulloch county friends of the happy couple was celebrated at 7:30 o'clock last Thursday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Ramsey, when Miss Willie Malone became the bride of Mr. Bob Tabor. The Rev. E. L. Springer officiating at the wedding ceremony, and quite a number of relatives and friends were present as witnesses.

Mr. Tabor is a nephew of Mrs. Stanton at Nile, and has been in McCulloch county upon numerous occasions, having formerly made his home here. For the past several years he has been farming near Thorndale, where he is a neighbor of J. W. Wilder, also a former McCulloch county citizen. He is a man well liked and highly esteemed by all and is a substantial and progressive citizen of Milam county. His bride is a sister of Mrs. W. H. Crawford, living on the Abney & Vincent farm, nine miles north of Brady on the Santa Anna road, and has been making her home there the past couple of months. She visited her sister here last summer, and it was at that time the couple first met, and formed the attachment that culminated in their happy union. Mrs. Tabor is a noble Christian woman, beloved of all who have met her, and will be a most charming and worthy mate for the man of her choice.

Mr. and Mrs. Tabor expect to leave tomorrow for Lometa, where they will visit for a brief period before going to their home. The best wishes of their many friends accompany them.—Thorndale Champion.

MEMORIAL.

It was my sad privilege last Friday afternoon to conduct the funeral service at the Methodist Chapel at Salty, of Samuel Guthrie of Clayton, Lubbock county, Texas, who died Nov. 8th of perinephritis, from which he suffered greatly, and was taken to the sanatorium for an operation, but expired before the operation was performed.

Samuel L. Guthrie was born in Milam county, Feb. 8, 1883, and was therefore 39 years, 7 months and 22 days of age. He was the only child of James and Belle Short Guthrie, deceased.

He was married to Miss Belle Ralston, Jan. 16, 1906. They have two children, girls, Viva, age 14 and Miriam age 10. Bro. Guthrie united with the Methodist church when quite a young man and remained a true Christian until death, thus affording his bereaved wife and children a bright prospect of a happy reunion in that country where there is no death. He has many relatives and friends who deeply mourn their loss while sister Guthrie and her children have a host of loved ones to help them bear their grief, chiefly her father and step-mother. Bro. and sister J. B. Ralston of Salty, two sisters, Mrs. Eva (Joe) Clark of Thorndale, Mrs. Sallie Powers of Dallas; two brothers, Matthew and Tom of New Mexico; also three half sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Avriett of Gardner, Mrs. Florence Bowns of Thorndale and Miss Birdie at home, also one half-brother, Guy, at home.

After the discourse at the church the Woodmen of the World, of which he was a member, took charge of the body, bore it to the cemetery and placed it in the tomb with their beautiful and impressive ceremony.

"And I heard a voice from Heaven saying unto me, write, blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth; Yea, saith the spirit, that they may rest from their labors, and their works do follow them."

CALOMEL GOOD BUT NEXT DOSE MAY SALIVATE.

It is Mercury, Quicksilver, Shocks Liver and Attacks Your Bones.

Calomel salivation is horrible. It swells the tongue, loosens the teeth and starts rheumatism. There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when a few cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a perfect substitute for calomel. It is a pleasant vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can not salivate.

Calomel is a dangerous drug, besides it may make you feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonfull of Dodson's Liver Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No salts necessary. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than treacherous calomel your money is waiting for you.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's recipe to bring color, lustre and youthfulness to hair when faded, streaked or gray

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

VERDICT OF 25,000 AGAINST SANTA FE

WIDOW OF ONE OF THE MEN WHO LOST HIS LIFE IN CAM- ERON FLOOD WINS SUIT.

Belton, Nov. 21.—A verdict of dam-ages in the sum of $25,000 was re-turned yesterday at noon by the jury in the case of Mrs. F. W. Leather-berry against the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe railroad, which was heard in the district court here throughout the past week. The suit was for $60,-000 and the cause of action grew out of the drowning of F. W. Leatherber-ry, a civil engineer employed by the railroad company, in September, 1922.

The case went to the jury late Sat-urday evening, but the body did not reach a verdict until it had been out 18 hours. It attracted considerable attention throughout the week.

It will be remembered that Mr. Leatherberry lost his life in Cameron more than a year ago in the Milan county flood. He, in company with another Santa Fe official, vainly at-tempted to cross Little River in a row boat near the railroad bridge. The current was too strong and both were drowned, the boat being completely demolished. Their bodies were found by the Laake brothers and others of Cameron several miles below the scene of the disaster.

Austin, Texas, Nov. 21.—Immediate relief for Texas Schools will be asked by S. M. N. Marrs, recently elected State Spherintendent of Public In-struction, when he takes office in January, according to his statement today to the Texas Educational News Service. The largest emergency appropriation possible will be asked for the schools, which Superintendent Marrs believes should be at least $3 per pupil.

"Considering deficiencies, appro-priations and tax rates, some $4,000,-000 will be available early in 1923 which legislature can apply to school relief," said Superintendent Marrs. "The schools got $3,000,000 less through the per capita this year than last, and $500,000 less through rural aid. Hence there should be at least 3,500,000 soon available for appro-priation to the schools. If that much is appropriated the schools will still have less money per pupil than in 1921.

"No backward step should be taken. So I shall recommend an appropria-tion of $3 for each pupil or as much more as may be possible. As there are 1,300,000 children, the minimum would be about $4,000,000. The best thing friends of Texas schools can now do is impress upon their repre-sentatives and senators the necessity of this appropriation's being made at once."

Permanent relief can never be ob-tained by the schools coming tin cup in hand to legislature year after year, is the belief of the superintendent elect. He has concluded that school finances can be placed on a sound un-fluctuating basis only through far reaching changes in the laws of Tex-as. His preference is for a new con-sitution. He believes friends of Tex-as children should unite in working for constitutional or other changes necessary to give Texas children the kind of schools to which they are entitled.

CLEOPATRA'S BEAUTY SECRET

Cleopatra knew that to have a fresh fine skin, thorough cleaning was necessary. She knew that the gentlest means must be employed. She used Palm and Olive oils.

The crude combination of these oils which was the best even royal- ty could command, is today brought to perfection in Palmolive.

Every girl can have the radiant healthy skin which is the founda- tion of all beauty. Intelligent care is the secret—thorough cleansing the basis.

Unless thoroughly cleansed with soap and water, the skin becomes sluggish and inactive. The tiny pores clog with dirt, oil secretions, perspiration, rouge and powder, and blackheads and other blemishes result.

Woman who fear it have been using the wrong soap. A pure mild soap causes no irritation.

Palmolive, with its creamy mild lather is lotionslike in its action. It soothes while it cleanses: it freshens, revives and stimulates and leaves the skin delightfully fresh and rosy.

KU KLUX KLAN AND THE PRESS

---FRIENDS OR FOES?

By William J. Mahony, M. A., D. D.

Republished from The Country Editor

THE relations between the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan and the public press during the comparatively short time the organization has been in existence have been exceedingly unique. Aside from the two great political parties, there is perhaps no organization in America that has received as much publicity during recent months in the columns of the American newspapers as has the Klan, and, despite the fact that much of the publicity given the Klan has been of an antagonistic nature, the amount of space devoted to it is and has been increased appreciably each month. From May, 1916, when the crowds watching the annual Confederate Veterans' parade in Atlanta were awed and thrilled by witnessing a body of robed and helmeted figures marching silently in single file, garbed in the costume and bearing banners and insignia of the Ku Klux Klan of Reconstruction days, the Klan and its activities have been a prolific source of copy for the daily press. Especially has this been true since July, 1920, at which time the organization, which had theretofore confined its activities to a comparatively small section of the country, launched the nation-wide campaign which in two years has succeeded in bringing into its ranks seven hundred thousand American citizens and establishing local klans in every state in the Union.

Viewed simply from the angle of publicity given, the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan owe a debt of gratitude to the editors of America, while, viewed from the standpoint of just treatment, many of the editors of America owe the Klan a decided apology! During the past two years the activities of many organizations—woman suffrage organizations, prohibition and anti-prohibition organizations, public welfare organizations, ex-soldiers' organizations, and a host of others—have occupied prominent places in the columns of the daily press, but it is safe to say that none of these has occupied as prominent a place as has the Ku Klux Klan, and it is likewise safe to say that none of the other organizations has been so opposed, so misunderstood, and in many instances so entirely misinterpreted as has the Klan. Leaving aside those editors and newspapers whose animus towards an organization as expressed in their news columns can be clearly traceable to financial, racial or religious reasons, there still remain many editors and papers whose principles and whose policies are in direct accord with the policies and principles of the Klan, and yet who, while recognizing the Klan as an important source of copy, have nevertheless attacked it unjustly in their editorial columns and have seemingly treated it very unfairly in their news columns. This unquestionably unfair treatment, undeniably in contravention of all the rules, customs and traditions upon which the Fourth Estate has builded its splendid institutions in America, can only be attributed to one thing—a lack of authentic knowledge concerning the Klan, its purposes, principles, aims and ideals. Lest this statement be construed as an attempt to arraign the public press of the nations, let it be clearly understood that the unfair treatment referred to is continually diminishing and that in almost every instance where the Klan has been given an opportunity to present its side of the story to them, papers have changed their attitude, and if not becoming actually pro-Klan have at least assumed a fair attitude towards it in their editorial and news columns.

The Klan believes that the editors and newspapers of this country are sincere in their efforts to give their readers facts and facts only in their news columns. Were this not so, the power of the press would be nil and the very existence of journalism in this country would be threatened. The Klan does not believe that the papers of this country are given to the wilful distorting of facts, but yet in many cases it has suffered grave injustice at the hands of editors who did not endeavor to inform themselves correctly concerning the organization or who relied upon preconceived and prejudiced notions concerning the Klan and allowed these preconceptions and prejudices full sway in their news columns.

The public dissemination of misinformation concerning the Klan may perhaps be temporarily harmful to the organization, but it is permanently harmful to the newspaper. There are several newspapers in this country which have lost circulation and prestige among a very important part of the citizens of their respective communities because of the continual and seemingly wilful distortion of facts in their news columns concerning the Klan. Klansmen are sensible men, their enemies to the contrary notwithstanding, and when they read in a given newspaper item after item of alleged Klan news that they know to be untrue, they eventually regard with suspicions anything appearing in the columns of that paper. This attitude has grown to such an extent that when newspapers of this type by chance print a Klan story that is actually correct, Klansmen refuse to believe it until it has been verified through official Klan channels.

No editor desires the integrity of his news columns to be questioned nor to have the citizens of his community regard with doubt or mistrust the news as he prints it. The Klan does not ask that the editors in this country indorse it or support it, but it does ask that those who guide the destinies of American journalism give it a square and impartial deal, not only in justice to the organization itself, but also in justice to their own personal interests as represented by the prosperity and standing of their papers.

Specific instances in support of the facts presented in the preceding paragraph are entirely too numerous to be given within the necessary limitations of this article. One particular instance may be mentioned, however. The writer recently spent a week in New England giving public lectures on the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan. Reporters were admitted at every meeting, and several private interviews were given to representatives of the press. The newspapers throughout that section of the country devoted an unusual large amount of space to the various meetings and to the writer personally and yet, almost without exception, the printed reports were so garbled and distorted that those in attendance at the various meetings could hardly recognize the printed description thereof. The meetings were characterized by absolute decorum and order from beginning to end, and yet the words "riot," "near riot," "disturbance" and "bedlam" were liberally distributed throughout the stories of meetings.

At one of the meetings a score of the officers of local klans in the vicinity appeared on the platform in their masks and robes. The story of the meeting contained the statement that nearly a thousand robed klansmen were present—an unconscious tribute to the strength of the organization in that locality! One paper carried as a headline across its front page, "Mahoney in Hiding," with a story to the effect that the writer had been spirited away and was in seclusion because of fear of bodily injury, while as a matter of fact he and his party occupied a suite of rooms in the most prominent hotel in the city during his entire stay there and interviewed many prominent citizens as well as reporters while there.

The writer is not seeking to chide the newspapers for their seemingly deliberate disregard of facts in reporting his lecture tour, but he does desire to point out to the editors of these papers that between eight thousand and ten thousand people, men and women, know the facts concerning the meetings by reason of their attendance thereat, and those who attended the meetings and afterwards read the garbled and distorted accounts thereof certainly cannot have an unshaken faith in the integrity of the news columns of the papers in question.

There are some editors and newspapers in this country, which by reason of their religious convictions and affiliations, are opposed to any organization which is solely Protestant in its membership and whose activities are directed towards furthering Protestantism in the United States. There are likewise editors and papers which are not in sympathy with any strictly Gentile organization, and there is still another small and despicable class of men and publications whose attitude towards genuine Americanism and true patriotism is characterized by a sentence from a political speech delivered by an associate editor of one of the papers of this class, who said, according to the account published in the New York City daily papers of October 9, "I wouldn't have chosen the United States to be born in if I had had my way, but would have selected some other country." These editors are not in sympathy with the Klan, nor can the Klan expect sympathetic or even absolutely unbiased treatment at their hands. But there remain a vast number of Protestant American editors and papers who can and who should treat the Klan and its doings accurately and fairly in their columns, if for no other reason than that the journalistic rule which prescribes decent treatment for any man or organization which proves a continuous source of news of general interest!

The truth concerning the Klan is not hard to learn. The Imperial Palace maintains a bureau of information which gives every facility to the editors of the country to obtain at first hand authentic statements concerning every phase of the organization, its current activities and its future plans. Literature explaining in detail every ramification of the organization can be had by any one for the asking; a corps of Klan lecturers is constantly appearing wherever opportunities for public meetings are afforded; hundreds of Klans, as the organizers are styled, are continually at work in every State, working openly and aboveboard to acquaint the general public with the truth concerning the Klan, and many other avenues of publicity and authentic information are open to those who desire facts concerning the organization. Therefore, the editors who habitually misinterpret the Klan in their various papers cannot but answer guilty to the charge either of bias and prejudice or else of almost inexcusable ignorance—a charge usually incompatible with the accepted tenets and traditions of American journalism!

The Knights of the Ku Klux Klan as an organization is here, and is here to stay. Its hardihood and its perpetuity have been established by the fact that despite all the attacks from enemies without and from traitors within—attacks which would have completely wiped out of existence other and older organizations had they been subjected to them—it has grown in power until today it is a factor that must be reckoned with in the fraternal, economic, and even political affairs of the nation. Whether, as those who compose the vast body of klansmen believe, the Klan is a necessary, vital, purposeful organization, which represents genuine Protestant Americanism and which will function to the benefit of American principles and American ideals—or whether, as its enemies declare, it is an unnecessary, un-American, dangerous aggregation of bigots, fanatics, and ruffians, the fact remains and cannot be gainsaid that the Klan is here.

Its size, its strength, its purposes and its construction have rendered it a fertile source of copy for the news columns and a vital factor too important to be overlooked in the editorial columns of the American press. No matter what the personal attitude of the editor may be, he today finds himself confronted with the necessity of giving Klan news in his news columns and of endeavoring to interpret the Klan and its purposes in his editorial columns. These tasks can only be accomplished correctly if the editors of this country will base their news and their editorials upon facts and not fancies. In this way only can the newspapers properly handle the subject of the Ku Klux Klan.

If the Klan is un-American, if it is a menace, if its methods and its purposes are inimicable to our great commonwealth, it can be and will be stamped out of existence by the American people themselves, if it can be proven unworthy of existence by the clear presentation of plain facts in the newspapers of this country. If, on the other hand, the Klan represents a serious endeavor on the part of hundreds of thousands of Americans to make their country a better place in which to live, to instill greater patriotism in all of its inhabitants, irrespective of color, race or creed, and to protect and defend American ideals and American institutions against dangers from without and within—then its mission will be strengthened and its accomplishments made greater if its integrity can be demonstrated by facts concerning it. Therein lies the duty and responsibility of the editors of America.

If the Klan is a menace, kill it with facts. If it is a needed, beneficial factor in American life, aid it with facts. In this way only can the editors of America rightly fulfill their mission as molders of public thought and opinion so far as the organization is concerned, and likewise play a no inconsequential part in shaping and deciding the ultimate destiny of the Invisible Empire, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

STAPP HANGED ON MCKINNEY SCAFFOLD

"I AM INNOCENT; DON'T CHOK ME" ARE LAST WORDS OF CONVICTED MAN.

McKinney Texas, Nov. 17.—At 11:33 o'clock this morning Sheriff Ed. the trap door and executed Ezell Stepp Blakeman of McKinney sprang for the alleged murder of Hardy Mills here Sept. 2, 1921.

The body hanged for eleven minutes and forty eight and three fifth seconds before Dr. J. T. Watson of Dallas, Dr. P. B. Robason and Dr. W. T. Largeant of McKinney pronounced the man dead.

Stapp's last words were: "I am innocent. The hanging is unjust. Gentlemen please don't choke me."

Sheriff Dan Harston of Dallas and Deputy Sheriff Allen Seale of Dallas assisted Sheriff Blakeman in the execution. Dr. J. L. Oldham, rector of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, held religious service for the condemned man just a few minutes before the execution.

About 100 persons, including many officers witnessed the execution. Ranger Tom Hickman and two rangers from Austin were also here. A large crowd of people gathered in front of the jail.

Ezell Stepp, who paid the penalty of death for the alleged murder of Hardy Mills near here was tried in the Fifty-Ninth District Court and the jury assessed as a penalty of death and the sentence was later pronounced by Judge Frank E. Wilcox.

The trial of Stepp was attended by one of the largest crowds ever to assemble in the District Court room. Many would arrive early each morning from all parts of the county, some bringing their lunch and never leaving the courtroom. He was originally defended by Jewell E. Abernathy, John D. Reese and Martin Kinkle, well known McKinney lawyers who were appointed by the court. However after his conviction and after the lawyers had carried the case to the higher courts in Stepp's behalf A. S. Baskett of Dallas was employed.

Arlie Stepp, nephew of the condemned man, made a confession a few days after their arrest and named his uncle, Ezell Stepp, as the person guilty of the murder. The latter, however, has stoutly maintained his innocence and in a recent interview said that Arlie Stepp was the man who killed Mills.

Hardy Mills lived in a rent house of Ezell Stepp's farm, about four miles northwest of McKinney as a laborer. Friday morning, Sept 2, 1922, he left home as usual, about sunrise, for McKinney. He was never seen alive by his family after that morning. A search by officers availed nothing. On Sept. 16 the body of Mills was found in an old abandoned well on the farm of W. J. Baxter by Mr. Baxter, and the matter was reported to McKinney officers. The body was incased in a mesh of bailing wire, the hand drawn tightly against the breast and wire being fastened through the mouth, bridle bit style. On one leg was tied a large piece of railroad iron and an automobile cover was fastened securely over his head. After much difficulty the officers removed the decomposed body from the well and immediately afterwards made the arrest of Stepp and almost at the same time another officer arrested Arlie Stepp, the nephew. Feeling was so intense right at the time that the officers moved the prisoners to the Dallas county jail for safe keeping.

Since his conviction Ezell Stepp has professed religion and united with the St. Peter's Episcopal church of McKinney, of which the Rev. John L. Oldham is rector.

The case has been one of the most noted in all the annals of criminal cases in the history of Collin county. He is the third person to hang in the history of the county.

FIERY, ITCHY SKIN QUICKLY SOOTHED BY THIS SULPHUR

Mentho-Sulphur, a pleasant cream, will soothe and heal skin that is irritated or broken out with eczema; that is covered with ugly rash or pimples, or is rough or dry. Nothing subdues fiery skin eruptions so quickly, says a noted skin specialist.

The moment this sulphur preparation is applied the itching stops and after two or three applications, the eczema is gone and the skin is delightfully clear and smooth. Sulphur is so precious as a skin remedy because it destroys the parasites that cause the burning, itching or disfigurement. Mentho-Sulphur always heals eczema right up.

A small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur may be had at any good drug store.

I. W. W. ARRESTED AT BRECKENRIDGE.

Breckenridge, Texas, Nov. 17.—A man giving his name of G. C. Blessingame was arrested and placed in jail by city officers late today. Papers literature and enrollment blanks of the I. W. W. were found on him, also a commission to initiate members into the I. W. W. He was commissioned out of Chicago and is said to have been working in the interest of his organization in Breckenridge.

The arrest was made in connection with the disturbances of the last few days following a parade through the Mexican and Negro districts when alleged threats were made to the residents of those districts. Other arrests are expected soon by police and state rangers who arrived this morning from Austin. The man arrested admitted having been in prison numerous times before. It is said that he escaped from prison once.

State Rangers and City police officers have been diligently questioning many people today brought to the city hall in connection with the disorders of the last few days.

Austin, Texas, Nov. 17.—A request that steps be taken immediately to protect Mexican citizens in Hidalgo and Weslaco, Tex., was received from Secretary of the State Hughes by Governor Neff today. The request was the second received on Mexican disorders, the first regarding the disturbances at Breckenridge. Steps already have been taken to investigate the lynching of a Mexican at Weslaco on Nov. 11, as reported in the message it was officially stated.

The message reports the protest filed with Washington officials Wednesday following the lynching of a Mexican at Weslaco and also of the alleged threats against the Mexican consul at Hidalgo. It also states that Mexican officials report no effort was made by the local authorities to prevent the lynching as requested to do so by the local consul at Hidalgo as well as Mexican citizens in that territory were threatened as a result of the Weslaco incident.

"I beg to request you to cause appropriate measures to be taken without delay to the end that adequate protection be extended to Mexican consul and Mexican citizens in reference and that I be advised of the result of your investigation in this matter," the message concluded.

Assistant Adjutant General Charles F. Crawford and Ranger Captain R. W. Aldrich left Austin late today for Del Rio and other Southwest Texas points. It was stated at the Adjutant general's office that the officers went to investigate liquor smuggling across the Texas border. It is believed that Crawford and Aldrich will investigate the Mexican situation as a basis for the State's report to the federal authorities.

38,691 BALES OF COTTON GINNED IN BELL COUNTY

There were 38,691 bales of cotton counting round bales as half bales, ginned in Bell County from the crop of 1922 prior to Nov. 1 1922, as compared with 27,075 bales ginned prior to Nov. 1, 1921, according to the official report made by George Wohleb, agent of the census bureau, yesterday.

This is taken to indicate that the cotton crop will probably amount to not more than 40,000 bales for this season. Since Nov. 1, the gins and compresses have been running only part time and over 95 per cent of the cotton has been gattered, it is estimated. The top crop may and from 1,000 to 1,500 bales it is believed. —Temple Telegram.

The YOEMAN'S PAGE

BASKET BALL MEETING.

Nov. 18th Coach Perkins called a meeting of all boys interested in basket ball and some 15 boys responded to the call. Coach Perkins told that he would arrange a stiff schedule and that practice would begin immediately after the foot ball season was over. Perkins told his men that he had already received offers for games from Universities in Oklahoma. It is planned to arrange a string of lights around the court and play all the games at night.

MISSSES BIRKMAN AND

JOHNSON ENTERTAINED.

Friday night a few of the high school set were guests at the home of Misses Birkman and Johnson. The guests told jokes, danced and made candy for amusement. Later the candy, fruit of their labor, was eaten by the guests. Among those present were: Messrs. Bassett Watson, Alton Baggett, Togo Joynes, Lyons McCall and Leonard Mewhinney. Misses Eloise Rogers, Martha Lou Hooks, Lucile DuBois, Lois Camp, and Mildred Moore.

INDIVIDUAL PLAYERS.

John Henry Yoe All-county guard, has played a wonderful style of foot ball. He has played two years on the gridiron. He is a first string man and made a fine record while on the gridiron. John is a Senior and this is his last year. He weighs about one hundred and fifty pounds and is about six feet tall. The Yoemen will greatly miss John and his wonderful style of foot ball.

Since this section has given to its readers the majority of the players this section of Individual Players will stop until next fall when it will resume its work in this particular part of the Yoemen page.

To get into communication with the Athletic Editor of the Yoemen page see Charlie Young at the building.

On last Thursday morning the boys of Yoe Hi School met in the auditorium for the purpose of passing resolutions to prevent the wave of stealing that has been passing over the school lately. Mr. Kidd and various members of the student body made talks urging the adoption of radical means for the prevention of this. The following pledge was drawn up and signed by the students: "I, the undersigned, do hereby pledge that I will not take anything of the schools are connected with school property that is not mine. Furthermore I pledge that if I see anyone doing such I will report him to the Student Self Government Council. I also pledge that all my work on examinations will be original. The members of the Students Self Government Council were told that if anyone were reported for stealing and if it was proved that it was true that the guilty one would be expelled from school. The girls met and took similar action.

HOWELL BROTHERS ENTERTAIN AT CHAPEL.

The students of Yoe High School received a musical treat Tuesday at the regular chapel exercises when the Moonshine Orchestra presented to them a varied musical program. The orchestra was composed of the following members: Trombone, Lee Howell; Piano, Alva Howell; drums, Baby Hendricksen; cornet, Emery Gunn; clarinet, Clarence Posey.

The program was as follows:

1. Lonesome Mama Blues.
2. Why Dear?
3. Haunting Blues.
4. Angel Child.
5. All by Myself.
6. In Room 202.
7. Hot Lips.
8. I Ain't No Bodys Darling.

RAIN PREVENTS GAME

WITH THORNDALE.

On account of a heavy rain last Friday the game between the Yoemen and the Thorndale Thorns was postponed. The game will probably be played Thursday. The Yoemen meet Rogers Friday and are doped to win.

YOE HI ANNUAL STARTS

CAMPAIGN FOR DUES.

The campaign for annual dues started last Tuesday. The annual staff promises to put forth one of the best annuals that Yoe Hi has ever seen. The dues this year are $1.50. The staff offers a ten dollar gold piece to the class that finishes with collecting the dues, a five dollar piece to the class finishing second, and a quarter eagle to the class finishing third. The senior class also offers to entertain the lucky class with a moonlight picnic.

The school is lucky in having a very efficient staff this year. The staff is composed of the following members:

Editor in Chief, Leonard Mewhinney.

Assistant Editor in Chief, Pauline Green.

Business Manager, Bassett Watson. Assistant Business Manager, Glinn Flinn.

BOY'S CLUB TURNS HUNTSMEN.

Last Friday night some fifty members of the Boy's Club journeyed in mass to Bear Creek. The boys brought 3 real old 'possum dogs and one may well imagine what the popular diversion was. The boys toasted weenies and enjoyed a delicious feast. While the group was eating, a long, mournful howl was heard and someone yelled, "He's treed." The bunch broke in the direction of the sound and soon one of the boys of Yoe Hi came down with a wriggling 'possum in his arms. The boys got in all two 'possums, one house cat, one armadillo. The gang was accompanied by Messrs. Preston and Perkins.

YOEMEN BATTLE WITH

TOWN TEAM FRIDAY.

On learning that Rogers would not be able to play Cameron Friday, Coach Perkins promptly arranged a game for that date with Cameron's veteran town team. This game has been looked forward to for a long time and at last the fans are to be satisfied.

On the town's side one finds a heavy, veteran aggregation, but one that is soft and undrilled. On the Yoemen's side we find a light, snappy, and well drilled eleven, and one that may prove extremely dangerous to the health of their opponents.

Altho we have no definite data on hand, we are fairly sure that the town will start Brewer at quarter, Edwin and W. D. Bigbee at halves, and Matula or Flinn at full. Looking over this list one feels that the town has the advantage in the backfield, for Brewer and E. Bigbee are formidable opponents. But McCall and Baggett are pretty big and mighty fast and Green may rival Bigbee as a line plunger. The Yoemen's line is due to hold up better than the town's, while Taylor will probably out kick Brewer. Anyhow its going to be a good game, so come down Friday and root for your team.

THE BAPTIST CONVENTION

CLOSED IN WACO NOV. 8.

Galveston overwhelmingly defeated San Antonio and Wichita Falls and will get the next meeting of the Baptist General Convention of Texas. This will be the first Baptist convention meeting ever held in Galveston.

The next meeting will be Nov. 8th, 1923.

Convention preacher, O. L. Powers, of Wichita Falls, Alternate Dr. L. E. Gates of San Antonio and Dr. Frank S. Groner, General Secretary for the executive work were re-elected by a unanimous standing vote.

The report of the Executive Board showed the total missions offerings for the year to have been $1,424,937.41. When Secretary Groner announced enough cash on hand to pay every bank note, cheers, applause and song burst forth in every part of the building. The report showed 11,447 Baptisms by the State Missionaries, who had held 1300 revivals and organized 94 new churches.

Judge T. M. Kennerly, Houston, read the report on the Baptist hospital of Houston showing 4495 patients received this year. A 3 per cent for mortality rate; 21 per cent of all children born in Houston within the year, born in the Baptist hospital. A property value of $475,321 with a debt of $125,000. He reported $19,893 given to charity work, and the institution makes no distinction as to creed or financial condition of patients applying or being cared for. The earnings of the Houston hospital for the year have been $190,796, at an expense of $164,313. The hospital has arranged to borrow $300,000 and proceed with building plan.

EVANS' Corner

This corner is devoted to business, politics and general news.

The first Thanksgiving was celebrated in 1621 by the Plymouth Colony. Since the Civil War, the President has regularly appointed a day as Thanksgiving. Every State, county and village that deserves the blessings of an all-wise and loving God should observe this day. This is a day when each one of us should take stock of our selves and count the many blessings that are ours.

There are so many things for which Evan's Corner is thankful that it would be impossible for me to mention all of them. We will mention some of them: First of all we are thankful for the Christian religion; we are thankful for health (we all have good appetites— we are thankful for good friends, without which the battle would not be worth the price; we are thankful for this good little town in which to live and rear a family; we are thankful that all the moss does not grow in some other town, for there is enough on the backs of some people here to make lots of horse collars and mattresses (if a comb could be found strong enough to curry it off) look how we celebrated Nov. 11; we are thankful we do not worship the dollar; we are thankful that it is a proven fact that in many cases properly fitted glasses relieve headache; we are thankful for good, clean competition.

There are lots of other things we are thankful for, but this space is too small for me to tell you. What are you thankful for? Where do we go from here? Who are you going to take with you? What you sow, you reap. Be thankful.

COMMERCIAL CLUB.

Directors meeting of the Cameron Commercial Club, Friday night, Nov. 17th, 1922.

Roll call showed the following present:

Officers—C. W. Lawrence, president; R. H. McIntosh, vice president; W. B. Skelton, secretary.

Directors—J. W. Coleman, J. T. Parma, W. G. Gillis, W. M. Cobb, C. R. Phillips, W. O. Triggs, Geo. T. Graves.

Committee Chairmen—S. A. Cottle.

Minutes of previous meeting were read and upon motion were adopted as read.

Chairman Graves of the good roads committee reported some good work being done by the grader being run over the Buckholts road.

S. A. Cottle, chairman of the Home Industry and Factory committee reported a meeting of the committee with a Mr. Meyers, who brought a proposition of building an extensive storage plant in Cameron for the curing of fruits, vegetables, etc., his proposition being to sell $400,000.00 worth of stock in a company operating under a Declaration of Trust. Mr. Meyers wanted the club to underwrite $25,000.00 of the stock or at least to endorse the proposition. Mr. Cottle reported that his committee did not think it advisable to do either on the basis proposed by Mr. Meyers and reported that Mr. Meyers would entertain a counter proposal from the club. Upon motion from J. W. Coleman, seconded by W. G. Gillis the club instructed Mr. Cottle to advise Mr. Meyers that it would not be interested in such a proposition on any scale at the present time.

John E. Mangum, chairman of the Finance Committee for the Live Stock Show, made a final report of the financial out-come, reporting an unused balance of $58.70. On motion from John E. Mangum seconded by W. M. Cobb this committee was instructed to pay any unpaid bills incurred by the show and to donate the remainder to the Red Cross during its annual Roll Call.

J. W. Coleman of the committee to raise funds to pay off the note on the Refinery site reported all the necessary funds raised except a small portion. On motion from J. W. Coleman seconded by W. G. Gillis the club voted the remainder of this money out of the treasury not to exceed $25.00.

The committee to raise money to finance the band to Jan. 1st, reported progress and that the amount needed would, in all probability be raised by next meeting night. There had been some discussion as to whether the band note would be paid off first or current expenses of the band and upon motion from J. W. Coleman seconded by R. H. McIntosh the committee in charge of the collections was instructed to dispose of the money as it saw fit.

W. M. Cobb chairman of a committee to try to organize a Fair Association reported that he would call his committee together within the next few days with a view of outlining a plan of organization.

W. G. Gillis called attention to the fact that Rev. Key and Judge Kemp would go to the Methodist conference next week and were going to try to bring the 1923 conference to Cameron and suggested that the club assist in this attempt. On motion from W. O. Triggs, seconded by W. M. Cobb the secretary was instructed to write a letter for delegates to carry with them inviting the 1923 conference to Cameron and to follow this up with a telegram of similar nature next Thursday, while the convention is in session.

On motion duly seconded the names of Messrs. Fletcher Dunlap and L. O. Perkins were added to the roster of the Club.

HUGHES IS ON JOB EVERY DAY AND FEELS FINE.

Since taking Tanlac I am on the job every day, have gained several pounds and feel better than I have in years." declared David L. Hughes, 2602 S. 11th St., St. Louis, Mo., employee of the American Refrigerator Transit Co.

"I suffered from stomach trouble two years and got so I could hardly eat a thing but what it felt like a lump of lead in my stomach. Gas bloated me until I was in misery for hours. I had terrible headaches, awful pains across the small of my back and was so run down I could hardly drag around.

"Tanalac helped me from the very start and now I have such a good appetite and such perfect digestion. I can eat just anything and nothing hurts me a particle. I am only too glad to pass along the good word about Tanlac."

Tanalac is sold by all good druggists.

THOMASON-PEDDY LUNCHEON STORY MAGNIFIED AFFAIR.

Gainesville, Texas, Nov. 18.—Geo. W. Dayton of Gainesville is in receipt of a letter from R. E. Thomason of El Paso with reference to statement published in several papers that Mr. Thomason had given a banquet for Mr. Peddy in El Paso and acted as toastmaster. The letter follows:

"El Paso, Texas, Nov. 13. "Judge George W. Dayton, Gainesville, Texas; Dear Judge—I am just in receipt of your letter relative to newspaper story that George Peddy took dinner with me when he visited El Paso last Monday. Replying, beg to say that I voted for Mayfield last Tuesday and told Peddy that I expected to do so. Nobody here was deceived about my position and neither was Mayfield or Peddy. I have never in my life scratched a Democratic ticket or a Democratic nominee.

"In company with several other old friends of Peddy we lunched at a public restaurant here last Monday noon. It was a trivial incident for a newspaper to make a story out of, but it was true and I am not ashamed of it. When I first went to the Legislature Peddy was one of the few men who voted for my clean election law eliminating the illiterate foreigner. He and I made the speeches on the floor of the House of Representatives for woman suffrage and were pitted in that debate against Barry Miller and Will Bagby. He was always for prohibition and clean in his personal life. I did not know he had returned from France until I heard he was making speeches for me in my race for Governor all over East Texas.

"Surely the time has not come in Texas. When we can not disagree with old friends about politics and religion and yet be courteous and grateful.

Yours very truly,
"R. E. THOMASON."

PEDDY PROPONENTS
SPEND $73,050.89.

Austin, Texas, Nov. 18.—Independent Democrats received $73,295.13 and expended $73,050.89 in the campaign of George E. B. Peddy for United States Senator, according to a statement filed today with the Secretary of State by James P. Smith acting secretary of a committee representing "Independent Democrats interested in advocacy of the principles advocated by George Peddy."

Mr. Smith says the statement is voluntarily made and filed.

The receipts are given as follows:

Sundry contributions $4,475, Texas Republican headquarters $10,000, Jno. H. Kirby, underwriting and then converted into contribution, $5,000; Jno. H. Kirby as loan $19,183.20; J. C. Cullinan, underwriting and then converted into contribution, $5,000; J. S. Cullinan, loan, $19,636.66; J. S. Cullinan, loan $10,000.

"Up to this date," the statement reads, "the campaign has failed to collect funds other than as herein stated, and he is unable, therefore as campaign manager, to repay part of said loans except $244.24, the balance on hand."

The legal expense is given as $3,935.15, "incurred with the litigation growing out of the successful attempt to keep the name of George Peddy from being placed on the official ballot."

Other statements filed show Peddy's personal expenses at $900 and those of Congressman H. A. Wauzbach at $4,530.

"DAT NIGHT HE GOT HIS TURKEY"

The parson got down on his knees, To tell the Lord how he was living, And then he said "Lord hear me please We will soon have a glad Thanksgiving. But it won't be so very glad, His voice got sad and jerky Unless you send us, dear Lord, please, A great big fat Turkey. He rose next morn at break of day, And went out doors a singing, But soon came back not half so gay, No turkey was he bringing. Next night he prayed the self same prayer, But added, "now the coop door's open. Although our faith's a little weak, We both are still hopin." Next Morn he found the same thing true, No turkey was awaiting, He came back both sad and blue The Lord's dear promises berating. But Nancy heard the words of doubt, Her husband was a saying, And said, "Now don't you whine and pout, Yo' cant get all by prayin'. Just tell the Lord you'll do your part, Don't be so fralin' lazy, If you sit around and pray and shout The Lord will think you're crazy" "Say, here am I, send me dear Lord, 'Tho' nights be dark and murky." He prayed her prayer just to a "T", That night he got his turkey.

MESDAMES MARTIN AND RALSTON JOINT HOSTESSES.

The beautiful new home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Martin, on Hefley Heights, was the scene of rare loveliness last Friday and Saturday afternoon when Mrs. Martin and Mrs. J. M. Ralston were joint hostesses to a number of invited friends. The entire reception suite was artistically decorated with red berries, vines and ferns, presenting an early Christmas decoration. Mesdames Martin and Ralston charmingly welcomed their guests and seated them to a most tempting salad course with hot tea. The diversion of the afternoon was a unique contest in progressive letters, which was very enjoyable. The hostesses were charmingly assisted in serving Friday afternoon by Miss Winnie Henderson, and Saturday afternoon by the Misses Flinn.

TUESDAY FORTY-TWO CLUB.

Tuesday afternoon the Tuesday Forty-Two Club was delightfully entertained by Mrs. Simmie Burns, Jr. The approach of Thanksgiving was cleverly carried out in autumn decorations of gold and yellow chrysanthemums. The color scheme was artistically presented in the decorations for the four tables, two for members and two for invited guests. Score cards and tally pads were yellow with turkey designs. 84 and 42 favors were all kinds of turkey emblems. Special table favors were groups of turkeys on top of boxes of candy.

After a number of enjoyable games of auction forty-two, the hostess served an appetizing salad course of press tongue, nut bread sandwiches, crackers, stuffed dates and marsh-mellow dainties. Mrs. Burns was ably assisted by her mother, Mrs. J. D. Dobbins, Miss Beth Jeter and Mrs. Lloyd Mitchell. Plate favors were large yellow chrysanthemums. Besides the club members present were Mesdames Lloyd Mitchell, H. F. Smith, Jr., Oxsheer Smith, James Watson, John Mangum, Geo. Graves, Jim Coleman, Giles Avriett and Frank Henderson.

BAPTIST AUXILIARY.

All circles met last Monday afternoon at the church in a business session. Plans for the entertainment of the delegates and speakers who will attend the District Sunday School Convention and B. Y. P. U., which will be in session Friday and Saturday, were discussed. Special plans were made for the reception to be tendered them Thursday evening at the church. There were a goodly number of members present and much enthusiasm prevailed.

METHODIST MISSIONARY.

The Methodist Missionary Society had its meeting in the church last Monday afternoon and held a short Memorial Service for Miss Belle H. Bennett.

Mrs. Ira F. Key gave a report of the School of Missions which was held in Houston under the auspices of "The Women's Federated Missionary Societies of Houston, of which she was a delegate.

PRESBYTERIAN AUXILIARY.

Circle number one met with Mrs. Jewell Barmore and had Bible Study. There were five present.

Circle number three met with Mrs. Ben Atkinson and did sewing for Tex-Mex School. There were four present. Mrs. Atkinson served hot tea and sandwiches.

Circle number two did not have a meeting.

MRS. R. D. BROWN ENTERTAINS.

Among the most delightful events of the season were the two parties given last Wednesday and Thursday by Mrs. R. D. Brown at her attractive home 602 Central Ave.

A beautiful vista was presented through the large rooms of the reception suite, where long stemmed yellow chrysanthemums and ferns were attractively arranged presenting an early autumn scene.

Forty-Two was the diversion of both afternoons. Tally pads and score cards carried out the autumn colors. After a number of spirited games, the hostess served a most delectable salad course consisting of press chicken, fruit salad, cheese balls and pickles, nut sandwiches, crackers and coffee. Table favors were awarded to each guest, which were dainty flower pots of ferns and corsage bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums.

Many friends of Mrs. Brown enjoyed these afternoons which proved to be the occasion of two of the happiest on the club calendar.

GET-TO-GETHER LUNCHEON

Last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Phillips were host and hostess to a very enjoyable get-together luncheon in honor of a friend of theirs, Mr. J. W. Nunn, of Snyder, Texas, who is here on a visit with his niece and nephew, Mrs. Logan Green and Elbert Hood, and friends.

The luncheon was gotten up and served at Mrs. L. Bigbee's popular home. The table was beautifully decorated with center piece, with handsome yellow chrysanthemums in a large cut glass vase, autumn leaves and miniature turkeys. A delicious roasted turkey was served with all the accessories that go with true southern hospitality.

The invited guest included only old friends and relatives of the honored guest. The invited were Mr. and Mrs. Logan Green and family, Mr. Elbert Hood, Dr. and Mrs. A. S. Epperson, and son Bentley, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nunn and children, and their honor guest.

After the luncheon they spent the afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Phillips at their apartments where they enjoyed a pleasant conversation and music, and later served cream and cake.

PRETTY NEW HOME

NEAR COMPLETION.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Smith, Jr. will soon be moving into their pretty new bungalow which is nearing completion on Hefley Heights.

This new home is modern in every way, attractively situated with spacious rooms and halls, and will be an ideal home.

A PRETTY RECEPTION.

On Wednesday Mesdames Roy Baskin and T. J. Denson were joint hostesses at one of the most beautiful receptions given this season at the home of Mrs. Denson, 212 E. 13th Street.

The approach of Thanksgiving was cleverly carried out in autumnal decorations of chrysanthemums, coral vines, autumn leaves, red-roses and ferns. Cheerful fires softly burned in the grates, adding beauty to the entire reception suite. Handsome baskets and crystal vases of red roses added charm to every place of advantage.

Miss Winnie Henderson welcomed the guests at the door, in her charming way, presenting them to the hostess. In the receiving line were Mesdames T. J. Denson, Roy Baskin, Will Ledbetter, Claude Triggs, Edwin York, R. H. McIntosh.

Mesdames John Denson, B. J. Baskin and Miss Aetna Smith gracefully mingled with the guests as assistants in the reception suite. Misses Rosine Ledbetter and Olive McGehee ushered the guests into the dining room which was especially lovely. The table was a bower of beauty with its handsome centerpiece on which rested a vase of large yellow chrysanthemums. On either side were red candles in crystal holders which shed their mellow light over a scene of loveliness. Misses Ruth Henderson and Sallie Kate McLane, seated at the table, were beautiful, and most charmingly served. They were graciously aided by Misses Catherine and Helen Flinn, Annie Lou Baskin and Clara Thomas, who passed the refreshments, which were unique—ice cream in individual mold of miniature roasted turkeys with angel food cake. Mints and ammons were passed.

Piano solos by Mesdames Roy Jeter, Ira F. Key and Miss Dickey contributed much to the pleasure of the afternoon, and the vocal solos given by Mesdames J. L. Clinton, Alex Triggs and Miss Nell Du Bois were much enjoyed. Mrs. Edwin York gave a catchy reading for the pleasure of the guests.

Master Roy Baskin Jr., cleverly took charge of the card basket and proved himself a gallant little assistant.

GENERAL BUSINESS CONDITIONS

With the settlement of the labor disputes now practically accomplished, excellent crop yields with prices tending higher, and assurances of price strength in general industry, the business outlook is now better than at any previous time since we emerged from the recent depression. It is true that foreign trade and ocean shipping are still unsatisfactory, and afford little or no promise by way of betterment. Yet expansion in the volume of domestic trade on a sound and stable price level can on itself, without the aid of itself, without the aid of foreign markets, place us on a 95 per cent prosperous footing.

The business trend is definitely upward and from all present indications portends increasing activity throughout the year 1923. The increased demand for goods is stimulating productivity at the factories and mines. Car loadings, the most accurate index of current business volume, were 933,381 for the week ending September 30. This figure was the highest recorded since October 22, 1920, 9.2 per cent over last year, and only 3 percent below the peak total of October 15, 1920. Bank clearings at leading cities for the week ending October 12 were 15.8 per cent higher than for the like week in 1921. For the first nine months of 1922, the sales of three well-known chain-store organizations were 12 per cent greater than in 1921. Both pig iron and steel ingot production for September were more than double the production for September a year ago. Automobile production which was due from a slump in August proved to be 11 percent greater than July's output, and 52 per cent higher than for August, 1921. Even September, when the Ford plant was shut down for the better part of a week, showed an increase of 31 per cent over the same month last year. It is unnecessary to further recount the evidences of business revival, which are written in letters so large that he who runs may read.

Christmas Music

By Mary
Graham
Bonner

(©, 1922, Western Newspaper Union.)

BRENT had grown away from his family. Brent was a successful man. He played a violin in a big city orchestra. He belonged to the union and the union backed him up and he never played a minute more than he had to play. It had become such a business with him that he never played now when he came home.

He came home once a year. Something handed down to Brent from his parents made him do this, although when he was home he often was cross. On the last home-coming he remembered his mother had talked to him about the cosiness of a home and had spoken of the attractive house she had seen a picture of in the paper. She wished Brent would marry and have a nice home like that instead of an apartment which was so far from being a home. He had explained to his mother that such a "home" was beyond the incomes of ordinary city people and that if she wanted him to be as cozy as that she'd have to get him the cosiness of millions.

For it took a millionaire to own a real "home" in a city.

How foolish his mother had been not to have realized all that. She knew so little of city life, of business, of anything outside her own small groove.

But Brent was coming home for Christmas and that was happiness for the parents. Only they did wish Brent was more like the boy he had promised to be. There was something so hard about him. He had told them the time before of a friend of his who was getting a divorce from his wife.

"But my friend is so honorable," Brent had said. "He wants the divorce as he's bored with his wife, though still she loves him, but he is having her secure the divorce and is paying all the expenses, for it is only fair to a divorcee to have the divorce secured by her. He really never wanted to marry her. He became tired of her soon after they were engaged. But it was his high sense of honor which kept him from telling her—to have a man break the engagement would have been dishonorable."

And Brent scorned their opinions. He regarded them as old-fashioned.

There was a man in a town some little distance away who wanted to see Brent's father on business and it was arranged that a meeting should take place at the man's house. Brent's father was going to sell much of the land, which had become a burden since Brent had gone away.

And he arranged the meeting so that he would be able to meet Brent on his way home for Christmas.

Brent greeted his father with reserved affection. "So you've brought the fiddle," Brent's father exclaimed. Brent never brought his violin with him any more because he would be asked to play by old friends who didn't realize that music was his business.

"Yes," Brent said, "I have to play right after Christmas and the town I'm to play in is nearer here, so I'm going there directly."

There was nothing more said. But at the next station a group of youths got on and at once began to play the mandolins and guitars which they had with them.

Brent's father nudged him. "Don't insult me," Brent whispered angrily.

"No son, I only wondered—I didn't mean you—I wonder if I could play on your fiddle with the boys. You know it's a good many years since you brought yours with you and I haven't touched one—I'll be careful of it. I used to play as a boy, you know. They said you got your music from me."

And Brent's father played and became a boy again. All the Christmas tunes they played—and the people in the train sang and there was merry-making that recalled to the aged man the happy days of long ago, despite the fact that his fingers were stiff.

Brent watched at first, rather disgusted at such a display of friendliness, for many of the people were strangers, and then he saw his father's eyes and the expression there—the expression which the music gave him and which he had denied him. What a cold, conceited, heartless person he had been, severe with his parents, keeping his music solely for pay, denying it to those whose love and warm sympathy had given him the talent.

"We had music, Christmas music, on the train," Brent's father told his mother as they got home.

"And we're going to have it here, too," Brent added. "I've made music my business, but Dad has put music into his life. And somehow," he added, and his voice had a new affection in it, "that Christmas music on that dingy, local train, and the singing of those cheery people just got at my heart—somehow," he repeated.

THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

By Mary Graham Bonner

(©, 1922, Western Newspaper Union.)

ELLEN had been feeling that there was no such thing in the world as a Christmas spirit.

During the summer, for example, she had taken a trip. Everyone seemed to enjoy it. Everyone seemed to be glad to get away from the world with its scandals and its sordid civilization. That was what everyone said as they took the trip through the simple wilds, remote and picturesque and old.

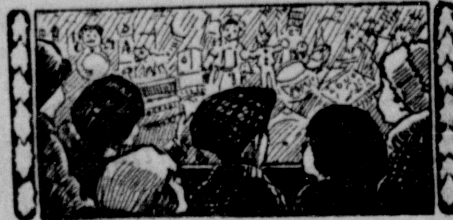

This seemed to be the life everyone longed for and then some one mentioned a scandal which had taken place nearly some months before.

With a dash everyone made for the scene—so they could tell the people back home that they had seen the locality of the scandal and Ellen had been disgusted. Was it such a sordid world after all?

Then she had taken some poor children to a big store to see the Christmas display and they had been refused admittance. The customers had objected to such crowds of children—they wanted to see the display themselves—why should poor children see the toys when they could only look? And all about the outside of the store were eager little faces peering into the windows and hoping that perhaps they could get in when the one who watched at the door was not looking. Once in a while one did and the children from outside waited for the news.

"What did you see? What did you see?" they shouted as the lucky one came out again.

Other stores had been different. Other stores had not had their rich customers complain. But it had saddened Ellen. And one of these very complainers had bought six copies of "The Christmas Carol" by Dickens to give away to friends. Ellen heard that later. It had not improved matters.

And on this same Christmas trip another she had met had said to her that these children had such shamefully poor coats and had reproved Ellen.

"I wish," the woman who had spoken so sharply to Ellen had said, "that they had some of the nice warm things belonging to my children," but when Ellen suggested that she should do something for these children she had gone off angrily.

And another person had patted her as she had seen her walking with these children and had said:

"A fine work, my dear."

And Ellen knew that the woman felt she had showed Christmas duty and Christmas service and Christmas love by making that speech.

But when Ellen began to see the trees, which were sent to the city for Christmas she felt better. The smell of the trees gave her some of the Christmas spirit. Oh, yes, it was all right after all, she had been seeing only what was disagreeable and everything else had passed her by.

And then one day in the crowded section of the city she saw a small crippled newsboy go up to a Salvation army bucket and put in his donation. Helping others to have a Christmas dinner when he was none too sure of his own!

As she saw it she involuntarily smiled and a smile answered hers. A strange man was smiling at her.

Was some one going to be impertinent to her? Was the incident of the little boy only going to serve as an excuse for a man to smile at her?

But in another moment he was apologizing.

"I'm so sorry," he said. "I was trying to place you in my mind. I was so sure I knew you. And then I remembered that you were the picture of the girl on the cover of a magazine last Christmas which I saved all the year and so which is naturally very familiar to me. I am so sorry!"

And then Ellen laughed. For last year she had posed for one of her artist friends.

"I don't suppose you've any idea," the man continued, "how much good that picture did. I've heard so many speak of it and of the Christmas spirit it expressed. You fairly breathed it—then."

"And now I'm different?" she asked. "You don't look just as—just as Christmas," he faltered.

And Ellen felt ashamed. For she had been critical of others and in worrying about the world's shortcomings she had lost her own Christmas spirit. But it had been merely wandering—it was not utterly lost—and the man? The man who had found it again for her?

They became friends and then they became sweethearts and they made of their love a permanent thing and were married.

And he always called Ellen his beautiful Christmas picture. And Ellen was glad that he did. It kept constantly in mind the Christmas spirit that had once almost left her for good and all!

APPRECIATION BY GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS

Probate Attorney Commends Red Cross For Work Among the Indians.

William Simms, U. S. Probate Attorney, in charge of the Indian District of Oklahoma, has sent the following letter to the Southwestern Division, American Red Cross:

"The activities of the Craig County Chapter, extending into Delaware County, Okla., have been of great value. Mrs. Myra T. Earhart, executive secretary of the Craig County Chapter, accomplished more good for the Indian soldiers in the one day when she extended her work into the adjoining county than has probably been done since the war.

"Mrs. Earhart and Mrs. Myrtle Griesham, the public health nurse of the Craig County Chapter, spent an entire day in Delaware County at my request and, believe me, those ladies had no time for recreation.

"Indian children were brought in to be inspected, weighed and measured and preparing the claims of disabled Indian soldiers was accomplished. These two women rendered such good service in this work that I am hoping that some day they will be able to get back to that county and furnish further help.

ELECTA HUNT Concert Company

Coming Wednesday November 22
Yoe High School

We find that the Lyceum audience of today are demanding a better class of music than ever before. This standard of excellence is no doubt established by the many different organizations appearing before our select audiences.

The Electa Hunt Company is new only in name. They are all artists of established reputation, having made their success with the well known Bostonian Sextette. This company received the very highest praise while touring the New England States last Lyceum season. This indicates to any Lyceum Committee that while the music is what is termed "High Class" the selections are chosen to meet our Lyceum audiences and their demands for a first class Concert Company—with ability plus personality. The program rendered by these artists is versatile and varied. All are soloists in their various lines. Ensemble work consists of violin, cello, piano and voice. Besides this, the usual trios of violin, cello and piano, interspersed here and there with readings, short stories and sketches—giving just the needed variety that will help everyone enjoy the program from beginning to end.

Miss Electa Hunt, Soprano, has an unusual dramatic soprano voice, rich in quality and of big range and power. She first made an enviable reputation about Boston and later was a very popular concert artist with the famous Bostonian Sextette. Miss Hunt has great ability and charming personality.

Miss Alice Hunt, Pianist and Reader, is an experienced Chautauqua and Lyceum artist with unusual personality that captivates her audiences at once.

We have pages of press notices and testimonial letters concerning the artists who will appear in the Hunt Company. Space will not allow us to print these words of praise.

Come See the Value of the Essex Coach

IT MAY SAVE YOU HUNDREDS OF DOLLARS

Experienced buyers demand more in a motor car than accessories. In many moderate priced closed cars however, such things as dome lights, cigar lighters, clocks, etc., are featured as against the most important qualities of performance, reliability and reduced maintenance expense. Come, make a close examination of the Essex Coach. That will show its real utility and chassis quality. Then you will appreciate what is most important when service is considered.

And you will know that the chassis that carries a closed body is always the most important part of the car. You want more than the fittings in the body. They are nice to have, but don't sacrifice car quality to get them. Don't accept a less able chassis, just because the body has an accessory you like when its cost is taken out of the motor, or other essential mechanical parts. The Essex Coach provides every closed car comfort. It is reliable, and convenient. It has all the details that count most for utility. Thousands are in service. And yet it is mounted on an Essex chassis that is better in every way than earlier models that established famous records.

A closed car offers advantages you will like. But don't let the extras over-weigh the construction of the body or the character of the chassis. Come see this Essex Coach. It is more than important if you are considering your first closed car.
